ENGINEERS END STRIKE; ACCEPT AUGUST AWARD

Work began today in strike-bound Vancouver Island and mainland mills with the signing of a contract late Monday by the International Union of Operating Engineers.

One of the Victoria mills affected will start Wednesday, and the other will begin immediately minor repairs are made.

The 150 steam engineers, who idled 16 mills in their demand for a 10 per cent pay increase, settled on terms offered by a conciliation board in August of five cents per hour retroactive to June 15, and another five cents next June 15.

Love-Mad Suitor Kills Girl in Crowded Plane

SEATTLE (AP)—A pretty United Air Lines stewardess, greeting passengers coming aboard a Los Angeles-bound flight, was shot to death by her former boyfriend at the crowded Seattle-Tacoma airport Monday night.

The rejected suitor, Robert Clendenin, 26, then fired bullets into his own neck and head, killing himself.

Sally Shedd, a 25-year-old blue-eyed brunette, was struck twice in the chest after Clendenin knocked her sprawling into a seat.

Clendenin, a trainee with a New York brokerage firm, had entered the plane and taken a seat before he turned with rage on his former sweetheart.

SOUNDED LIKE CAP PISTOL
Mrs. Herman Roesch of Portland, Ore., who occupied the seat next to Clendenin and watched him take a gun from his briefcase, said:

"I thought it was a cap pistol. Even after it went off I thought it was a cap pistol. It just kept on going off. Bang, Bang, Bang." Clendenin, who met Miss Shedd several years ago in New York, was one of the last of some 40 passengers to file up the ramp of the DC-6B.

He nodded and spoke to his former girl friend before taking his seat next to Mrs. Loesch at the front of the plane.

Withdrawing the pistol from his briefcase, Clendenin rushed down the aisle and confronted Miss Shedd. He pushed her into a seat on top of an air force lieutenant and fired four shots.

STARED IN DISBELIEF
The passengers stared in disbelief at the scene unfolding before them.

The air force lieutenant, Norman Stout of Portland, Ore., leaped from his seat and grabbed Clendenin. A fifth shot, which plunged harmlessly into the plane's seat was fired as they grappled.

Stout finally tumbled Clendenin through the door of the plane and down the ramp to the concrete field.

Clendenin ran about 25 yards

Christ Spoke To Pope Pius, Italy Paper Says

VATICAN CITY (AP)—An Italian newspaper said today the vision of Christ, which is reported by Vatican sources to have appeared before ailing Pope Pius XII, spoke to the Pontiff.

Corriere Della Sera of Milan printed the first account to attribute words to the vision.

It reported the vision clearly and distinctly said: "The Master is present and calls you."

The newspaper said the Pope was reciting a prayer during his illness last December and came to the line: "In the hour of my death, call me."

Reds Execute 6 Beria Aides In New Purge

Plotted Against
Kremlin Regime

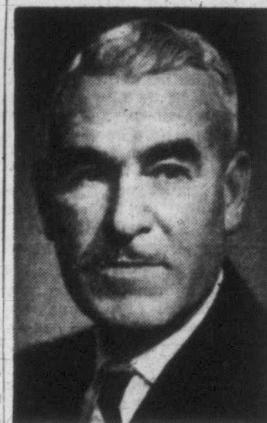

LONDON (UP)—Soviet Russia disclosed today that six followers of the late Lavrenti P. Beria have been shot in the biggest known blood purge of the supposedly tranquil Bulganin-Khrushchev regime.

Tiflis radio announced that six former police officials in Beria's home state of Georgia were executed for carrying out plots by the executed secret police head, covering up his misdeeds and framing his enemies.

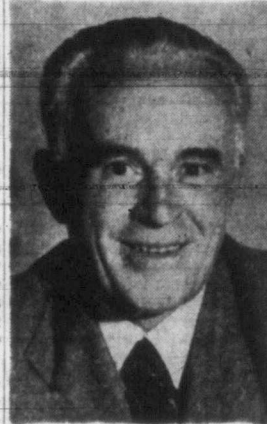

In addition two others were sentenced to prison terms of 25 years.

It was the biggest purge since Beria himself was fired as Soviet secret police chief early in the reign of Georgi Malenkov and shot in December of 1953 for allegedly plotting against Malenkov's government and the Soviet Communist system.

Last December four Beria accomplices were shot in a follow-up purge sweeping Georgia—hotbed of Beria men and home of both Beria and the late Josef Stalin.

7 New Candidates Promise Record Area Voting Slates

The keenest interest in years in the municipal election contests in the Greater Victoria area was assured today as seven new candidates were announced, indicating sharp competition for most offices.

New developments were:

1. In the city, Alderman W. F. Pinfold announced he will stand for re-election and Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, former MLA for Victoria, said he will stand for council. This raised to 11 the number seeking council seats, the largest in years.

2. In Esquimalt, Magistrate A. I. Thomas, reeve from 1947 to 1951, announced he will contest the office against the incumbent, Reeve A. C. Wurtele, in the rapidly developing municipality.

3. In Saanich fresh demands were made for investigation into handling of municipal gravel and into the handling of the district's big sewerage project.

Victoria City has already been assured of a spirited contest for the mayoralty, with former Alderman Percy Scurrell and W. A. Scott listed as opposing Mayor Harrison.

3-Way Contest in Saanich

In Saanich, former MLA Arthur Ash and George Clayton are opposing Reeve Joseph Casey.

In Oak Bay, no new candidates have come forward but all incumbents whose terms of office expires this year, with exception of Mr. Fred Hawes, have announced they will seek return to office.

This includes Reeve F. E. Norris, Mr. George Murdoch, who aspires both to council and police commission; Mr. J. V. Johnson, aiming at his 23rd and 24th years on council, and school trustee, W. C. Gelling.

Mr. Gelling's candidacy rounds out the slate for district school board, each of the present members who is ending a term has now announced he will run again. These are trustees Kenneth Leeming and Harold Whitfield, city representatives, and Saanich representative and board chairman, Walter P. Jeune. They have no opposition so far.

Here are the latest candidates:

Esquimalt Ex-Reeve in Field

Magistrate A. I. Thomas, 61, presiding judge at Colwood RCMP court, and former Esquimalt reeve from 1947 to 1951, born at Nanaimo, is in the real estate and insurance business in Esquimalt and has been a justice of the peace since 1937 and a magistrate for over 12 years.

Reeve Fred L. Norris, so far unopposed in his candidacy, is seeking a second term as reeve of Oak Bay. He served for years on council previously. He said he wishes to continue in office until re-planting of Beach Drive is complete and the new Hudson's Bay land development and subdivision north of Lansdowne Road is complete. He also wants to share in planning for Oak Bay's 50th anniversary celebrations in 1956. He is former president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Clr. George Murdoch has served 10 years on Oak Bay council and two years on the municipal police commission. He is unopposed for office at present. For the last two years he was chairman of the parks committee which planned Carnarvon Park development.

Clr. J. V. Johnson, who has already completed 22 years of service on Oak Bay council, is manager of Evans, Coleman & Johnson Brothers. He was born in Victoria and educated here. He is a past president of the Board of Trade and the Victoria Automobile Club and past president of Oak Bay Liberal Association.

School trustee W. S. Gelling is completing his first two years on the school board. He was born in England 48 years ago and came to Victoria in 1910. He is employed as chief accountant at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

2-Mile Traffic Snarl as Snow Hits Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Heavy snow today caused one of the worst traffic tie-ups in Winnipeg's history.

Streets became sheets of ice as nearly three inches of wet snow fell over the city in the wake of a snow storm that swept across southeastern Saskatchewan and south Manitoba overnight. It was the seventh heavy fall of the early winter.

A semi-trailer truck attempting to negotiate the main street was skidded and blocked two traffic lanes. It left only one south-bound lane open—and that one was extremely slippery.

Traffic was backed up for nearly two miles as motorists and buses from north Winnipeg were stranded. Buses were more than an hour behind schedule.

Many of the city's cinder trucks themselves became stranded.

Fire Ruins Club

NORTH VANCOUVER (BUP)—A building housing the Diamond Horseshoe Supper Club was almost totally destroyed today in a fire which followed an explosion. A power shovel being operated nearby apparently ripped up a gas main.

Grey Cup Promised Fine Day

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The Dominion Public Weather Office today issued a reassuring forecast for Grey Cup day, Saturday, predicting "little or no precipitation."

In a special forecast, the weather bureau said "the outlook indicates that it will be cloudy at Vancouver with little or no precipitation, light winds and afternoon temperatures in the high 30s or low 40s."

The weather office issued the reassurance after snow fell on the city today, raising fears that bad weather conditions might again interfere with Canada's annual football classic.

The snow started falling early today as Grey Cup frenzy built in Vancouver in preparation for Saturday's game between the Edmonton Eskimos and the Montreal Alouettes.

The weather office said a storm moving in from the Pacific had brought snow and rain and that the province would return to colder weather by Thursday.

Up to an inch of snow fell on the higher levels of Vancouver this morning. However, the turf at Empire Stadium—where the game will be played—was unaffected as it is covered by tons of hay and a tarpaulin.

Even if Vancouver provides a bit of snow Saturday, the Grey Cup teams won't be too worried. Edmonton Eskimos coach

Frank "Pop" Ivy smiled when he heard this morning that snow was falling in the higher levels around Vancouver.

"Humph, we've seen a bit of snow this year and Ah reckon Montreal has, too. Can't say Ah'm too worried," he said.

This morning's Eskimo workout at Athletic Park appeared aimed at beating Montreal Alouettes with their own favorite weapon—the long pass. Eskimos drilled for an hour on pass-patterns with quarterback Jackie Parker, supposedly a weak passer, hitting his receiver with deadly accuracy up to 40 yards.

Onlookers also saw Bob Dean and Parker practicing placekicks. Dean, who toed in six in a row from 30 yards out this morning, kicked the vital conversion that gave Edmonton their one-point margin of victory over Montreal in last year's Grey Cup game.

TYPEWRITER KEYBOARD CHANGE DUE?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government set out Monday to decide whether to rearrange the keys on all its typewriters.

Advocates of the new system claim it would increase the average typist's output by as much as 35 per cent.

On the new keyboard, vowels are placed on the second row where the typist's fingers normally rest. And letters most frequently used are positioned where they can be struck by the fingers which do most of the typing work.

Bible Donation To Students Hits 1,000,000

An historic milestone was reached by The Gideons International in Canada Monday as the 1,000,000th copy of the special youth New Testament edition was presented to fifth grade pupil John Welcker at Kitchener, Ontario.

The presentation was made by the association's national president, Roy C. Spaetzle.

This phase of the Gideons ministry started in October, 1946, and has grown steadily. The program now involves annual distribution of 150,000 New Testaments and is carried on in all Canada's public schools, including those in the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

The Gideons also place Bibles in hotel rooms, motels, hospitals, prisons, and military establishments.

The Gideons International in Canada was organized 50 years ago. Head office is in Toronto.

Farmers in Denmark operate more than 1,300 co-operative dairies.

'DOES HE EXPECT VOTES?'

McEwen Remarks Irritate Symphony Women's Group

Aldermanic candidate Elmer McEwen has incurred the wrath of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra's women's committee.

The ladies are mightily upset over Mr. McEwen's statement in a Times' election forum last week.

He had the temerity to say: "If the orchestra was made more attractive and not such an exclusive club... he might favor a civic grant to the group."

That did it, and the irate women appeared in the Times newsroom in force Monday.

Mrs. H. A. Chisholm, president of the Victoria Symphony Society women's committee, asked: "Does he think it is an exclusive club when there are 1,200 members?"

"There were 500 invitations sent to the general public at the last reception and there are 97 members in the women's committee."

"The 24 members of the board of directors are drawn from various businesses and professions. How does Mr. McEwen expect the women of the community to vote for him if he

Premier Backs Kiernan on Milk

'Filthy Farms' Issue Won't Involve Resignation of Agriculture Minister

Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan will not resign his portfolio over the furore in Vancouver resulting from the failure of his department to ensure "filthy" milk was not sold in the Greater Vancouver area.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett made this clear Monday as he answered a barrage of questions on the Clyne Milk Report at his regular press conference.

"I have complete confidence in Mr. Kiernan," said the premier. When asked point-blank whether Mr. Kiernan would resign, he replied:

"The answer is no!"

Mr. Justice Clyne, in his royal commission report on B.C.'s embattled milk industry, said he had found "a complete breakdown" in the agriculture department's inspection service in the Fraser Valley dairying area. He termed it a "farce."

HEALTH ENDANGERED

He said that for the lack of five additional men on the inspection branch, the health of the entire Vancouver community was endangered.

When confronted with this section of the report, the premier said "I don't think any bad milk" was sold in Vancouver. He said the press had done "a disservice" by "trying to scare people" through their reports on Mr. Justice Clyne's findings.

He said that if filthy conditions existed in valley farms, the Social Credit government "inherited" the situation from "the old governments."

"The government has moved very quickly," said the premier. He was referring to Mr. Kiernan's announcement that his department would fill eight inspection jobs immediately.

Premier Bennett was asked why the government had not appointed the eight inspectors when the evidence of filthy conditions was aired before public sessions of the Clyne commission.

"Was there an interim report made?" he asked.

The premier was asked: "When the government asked the Legislature to approve a cut of $80,000 in the department of agriculture estimates at the spring session, did you know the inspection service was completely broken down?"

He replied: "I think that is an unfair question at this time. We didn't think there was a complete breakdown, and we appointed him (Mr. Justice Clyne) to look into these things."

He said also that "the government must assume full responsibility" for the conditions found by Mr. Justice Clyne.

ACCEPTS RESPONSIBILITY

"And the government accepts right down the line," he said. He said that "if conditions were so bad, 'we would have had an interim report' from the commissioner."

"Do you think then that the commissioner was remiss in his duties?" he was asked. "No... I think perhaps there were other reasons," answered the premier. He would not elaborate.

Premier Bennett was then asked, "Will the government implement the Clyne report?"

"The government will certainly take full cognizance of all his recommendations," he replied.

He said the "first thing is to rectify" the filthy conditions on some farms, and "next thing is to look into it, and see who is responsible."

Premier Bennett criticized the press for not emphasizing in published accounts of the Clyne report that the commissioner had "backed up" the government's decision of October, 1953, to decontrol milk prices above the producer level.

"That's the main thing," said the premier.

A. deB. McPHILLIPS

Victoria Progressive Conservatives Monday named lawyer deB. McPhillips their candidate in the next federal election, expected in 1957.

The candidate is married, with two children. He has been a member of the Progressive Conservative party since 1922.

Mr. McPhillips told the convention: "I will be a candidate for George Drew's party. I look upon him as one of the greatest leaders our party has ever had."

He was nominated by W. H. M. Haldane, QC, who expressed confidence in Mr. McPhillips' chances for election.

"This man is well qualified to contest the election... and to represent the constituency at Ottawa when he is elected, as he will be," said Mr. Haldane.

Vic College Station CJVC Now on the Air

BY BARBARA SANSON

Times College Correspondent
CJVC, Victoria College's own radio station staged its grand opening Monday with all the excitement of a Hollywood premiere.

The fact that it can only be heard within the confines of the college did not detract from the fuss.

Representatives of local radio stations were in attendance and faculty and council members also present to wish success to the original project.

The main aim of the radio club is to provide a musical interlude at lunch time as well as to keep students informed of latest national, civic and college news.

STUDENT IDEA

The idea was conceived by the radio club under president Bob Genn. Financial aid was received from the Alma Mater Society and most equipment was contributed.

The broadcast booth is fitted with microphones, turntables and an amplifier, the sound being carried to a speaker in the cafeteria. The equipment is valued at $300.

Programs of noon-hour music will be listed under five general headings with a different class of entertainment each day of the school week. These include Make Believe Ballroom (featuring top bands and feature vocalists); Rendezvous with Records (music in the unusual manner); Personalities in Sound (favorite artists according to a college poll); Platter Parade (variety music); and Music for Moderns (progressive jazz).

DISC JOCKEYS

Disc jockeys for the various programs will be Alan Newberry, already an experienced announcer on a local radio station; John Sparks, well known in the city for his dramatic talent; Russ Gurney, Bob Food and Alan La Croix.

PROFITS BOOKLET CENTRE OF STORM

Board Hear Pro, Con Arguments, Reserves Decision on School Use

Petitions for and against distribution of Chamber of Commerce pamphlets to local high school graduates were presented to Greater Victoria School Board Monday night.

School board chairman Walter P. Jeune said after the debate he did not think the board will discuss the matter again until closer to graduation time.

Chamber head Pat Dunn and George Wheaton, past president, appeared to appeal a recent board decision barring their pamphlet, "What About Profits."

The board earlier this year approved circulation of the booklets among high school graduates; but reversed its decision after protests were lodged by Saanich and Victoria CCF groups.

The CCF argued that the pamphlets represented only one school of economic thought, the free enterprise system. If the board accepted the literature, the party said it would ask to circulate material aimed at teaching other forms of economic theory.

At the board meeting Monday to oppose the circulation of any pamphlet not issued by the department of education was Mount View High School Principal Dr. J. M. Thomas. He emphasized he was not appearing as a school official nor as a representative of anyone but himself as a citizen.

Mr. Wheaton told the board the booklet concerned did not represent any school of political thought. He said the book was merely factual information.

"We take strong exception therefore to any attempt to question the motives of the chamber in its effort to distribute factual information in the same manner one would question the motives of a political party attempting to disseminate political propaganda."

WOULD WITHDRAW

Mr. Wheaton said the chamber is prepared to withdraw its request if it can be shown the material is not factual. He added that the chamber feels "some slight instruction in elementary economics would be a desirable thing for all graduating students."

Dr. Thomas replied that economics cannot be separated from politics. He said the booklet "What About Profits?" begs the issues and added the high school curriculum at present includes a factual nonpartisan course in economics on an optional basis.

He said the department of education is the only responsible

New Building Program Predicted for Schools

Greater Victoria taxpayers were notified officially Monday night a third major post-war school building project likely will be placed before them in referendum form in December 1956.

The baby boom in the final years of the Second World War and the initial years following it, which bounced elementary enrolments here from 9,000 to 16,579 in the last six years, is now catching up to the secondary schools.

Senior municipal inspector John Gough told the Greater Victoria School Board meeting the situation is "alarming" and warned that unless plans are laid now for a secondary school building program, shift classes in high schools will be necessary.

Oak Bay High School was named as the first school most likely to feel the pressure of the rising tide of students.

Another school referendum could not be placed before voters until December, 1956.

Meanwhile, the 1947 building program, which cost district taxpayers $3,913,000, is just being completed in additions to Victoria High School.

The 1955 school building program, authorized last December to the tune of $3,129,000, is far from complete. Eleven major projects are headed by the construction of the $363,899 Colquitz Junior High School slated to be started in 1956.

The board agreed with Mr. Gough that December of next year would be the earliest date for the "School Loan By-law Referendum, No. 3."

Each member was given a copy of a schedule of statistics showing estimated enrolments in Greater Victoria schools in the next few years.

10-YEAR SURVEY

Mr. Gough said a survey is being undertaken to cover 10 years and will be completed in three parts—estimated enrolment by grades, which the board received; estimated classroom requirements and recom-mentations for school construction. The latter are still being prepared by the inspector's staff.

He said his office will confer with the Capital Region Planning Board.

Highlights of the initial report include the following facts:

In the last year the total school population of Greater Victoria (District No. 61) increased by 1,359 students to a new high of 16,579.

Enrolment of students in grades seven, eight and nine has grown until classes in junior high schools are now accommodating 36 pupils where the government teacher-entitlement grant formula stipulates 30.

The new Central Junior High School, S. J. Willis and Oak Bay Junior High Schools are filled to capacity and the latest to be built, Lansdowne Junior High, can accept only 120 more students.

Estimated grade one enrolments in the next five years are 1,731, 1,833, 1,914, 2,118 and 1,882.

Grades 10, 11 and 12 are expected to enroll 992, 904 and 512, respectively, next year. But in 1960 those figures are expected to be 1,143, 1,213 and 945.

Grades 10 to 12 collectively will enroll an estimated 2,408 students in 1956 and an estimated 3,301 in 1960.

Strange Deal in Butter

MR. GARDINER APPARENTLY is planning to sell some more Canadian butter at bargain-basement prices to unnamed consumers behind the iron curtain. The arrangements forecast by our Ottawa correspondent are the same as those followed on a former occasion. The Federal Government buys up butter from the farmers at a fixed price; it sells abroad at a lower price; and the taxpayers of Canada make up the difference.

In other words, the Canadian consumers pay for the butter but they do not eat the butter. The foreigners eat it.

These Alice-in-Wonderland economics are necessary, Mr. Gardiner believes, to maintain a butter price in Canada well above the world price. The Canadian price thus maintained is so high, indeed, that it discourages the consumption of butter in this country. The ordinary family will not or cannot pay that price and therefore eats margarine.

If the price were reduced, more butter would be eaten here and the present huge surplus liquidated. But on no account, Mr. Gardiner says, must the price be cut and, of course, no foreign butter is admitted to compete with the local product.

Butter has been given a system of absolute protection from foreign competition and from any price reduction. It is thus placed, for purposes of government policy, in a class by itself.

None of these cunning arrangements have solved the butter problem. On the contrary, it is aggravated by the attempt to isolate it from normal market forces. The Government buys in the butter from the farmer and, since Canadians will not buy it in sufficient quantities, it must be exported. In the export markets, however, the price is much lower than the Canadian price. The government, therefore, must cut its Canadian price on these exports and take a heavy loss. The loss is paid out of the public treasury. Can this be called a solution?

All the existing arrangements would be weird enough in any event. They become quite indefensible when the Canadian Government is protesting against exactly similar methods followed by the United States in the case of grain.

The American Government is selling grain abroad precisely as Mr. Gardiner proposes to sell butter—at a cut price, or no price at all, and at the expense of the taxpayers. Canada protests against these subsidized sales as unfair and demoralizing to world trade. And then it proposes to do the same thing with its own butter.

It is no use saying that the United States is selling grain by these methods on a huge scale, whereas our butter sales are relatively small and innocent. The principle is identical in both cases. Assuredly the American Government and public will note that our protests in the case of grain are quite inconsistent.

The case of Canadian butter is, indeed, more egregious, because it is less sensible, than the case of American grain. The Americans are subsidizing the export of grain which they simply cannot eat. We are proposing to subsidize the export of butter which the Canadian people can eat and would be glad to eat, if the price were not so high. The Americans are dumping a true surplus. We are dumping a desirable food-stuff which is not really a surplus at all but is unsold in Canada merely because it is held at a price beyond the consumer's purse.

Hence Canadians are invited to eat margarine (though the dairy farmer regards margarine as his enemy) while foreigners in communist countries are invited to eat our butter at public expense.

There is only one reason, of course, for this astonishing bargain—it is tailored to fit the Canadian farm vote. The Government naturally is worried about that vote and the farmers are naturally worried when their total income drops though the national income is rising.

The farm industry certainly is entitled to every reasonable assistance from the state but the particular formula applied to butter is so ridiculous that it cannot be long maintained. Has any political party in opposition the courage to say so?

Taking Stock of Canadians

MR. RHYS SALE, PRESIDENT of Ford of Canada, might fairly claim an inside knowledge of Canada's industrial development. In a recent Toronto address, he had some interesting things to say about this country's prospects.

Mr. Sale has no doubts about the potential wealth of Canada. He doesn't think we will "ever run out of major development projects." Our natural resources—forests, minerals, waterpower sites and such—still promise many years of exploitation. On that score, then, the future is bright.

But another aspect of the picture gives Mr. Sale cause for worry.

"If there is one thing that can slow down national progress," he says, "it will not be a shortage of natural resources, of manpower or of capital. It will be a lack of people with the pioneering spirit, the daring, the skill and the mental equipment to create and make use of the Kiti-mats, the pipelines, the atomic reactors, and the still undreamed-of wonders of our future."

In other words, it is up to us to make this country great. It will not become great merely because of the ore in the ground, the wood on the hills or the water in the rivers. Utilization of these resources will depend on imagination, intelligence and trained ability. And Mr. Sale fears that not enough of these factors are being made available in Canada.

Another Effort at French

BRITISH COLUMBIA, FARTHEST west province of a nation bilingual in little more than official classification and in certain parts of Quebec, plans to teach French to some elementary school pupils.

The proposal is experimental and will apply only to certain selected Grade 5 and 6 classes.

Theoretically the scheme appears hopeful. Practically, unless great changes are made in the methods of teaching the language and making it something more than a prescribed examination course, few will be optimistic over its success.

High schools in this city, presumably throughout the province and probably in most English-speaking parts of Canada, have labored like a mountain and produced a linguistic mouse.

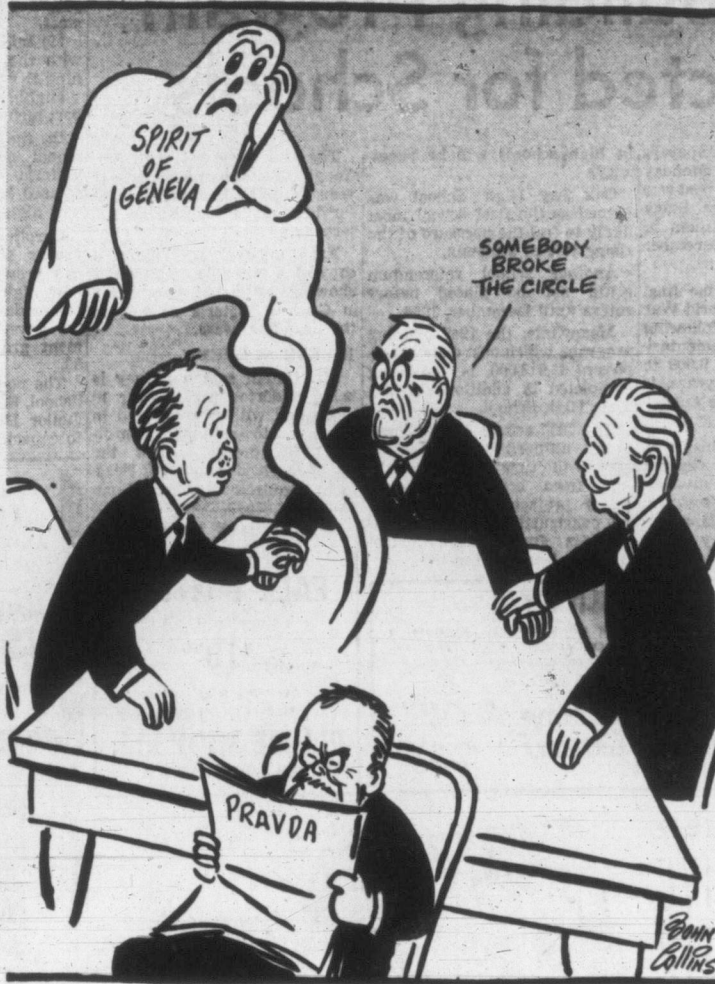

This is not necessarily the fault of teachers, who have proved their high competency in other subjects. After three or more years tuition in French, high school graduates frequently have some ability to puzzle out the written language. Through disuse, this limited facility soon disappears.

French, to the average school boy or girl, is just not interesting. It seldom inspires the classroom and too frequently becomes drudgery in irregular verbs. If there are infrequent instances in which it becomes more than a little-understood phrase tossed off by a juvenile to prove erudition—or lack of it—they are so infrequent that they do not count.

The ideal of giving Canadians here another language is excellent. It could be, if it were successful, an incomparable way of stimulating unity in this country. But before it can be anything of value, it will have to be much more attractive and much more widely used than it has been since French became the main foreign language taught in the high schools.

Something to Think About

WHEN Mr. Pickersgill came here last week the public, one fancies, was chiefly interested to hear what he had to say about his famous "baby speech" of last spring. Some people may have supposed that he had come back here merely to correct a misunderstanding about his former utterances.

Hutchison

A speech of this sort is not likely to be understood at once. Its meaning will take a little time to dawn on the public. To many readers, indeed, Mr. Pickersgill may have seemed to say very little that is new or important, to have filled a luncheon program with a few statistics and some passing pleasantries. In fact, he said something which, when considered at leisure, will set every literate Canadian thinking furiously.

THE nubbin of this carefully-planned statement will be found in a rather obscure paragraph, dropped without a ripple into the speech. Mr. Pickersgill says that the Government will encourage immigration but never enough immigration of foreign peoples to change the fundamental character of the Canadian people.

Certainly the same statement was made by Mr. King years ago but no one noticed it particularly. At that time our minds were full of more urgent matters and we were not moving any substantial number of foreigners into the country. The important thing is that the King policy is still in effect at a time of heavy immigration and almost unbelievable population growth.

Mr. Pickersgill evidently has decided to direct the nation's mind gently to a very subtle question, seldom discussed in public. What is the character of Canada; is that character worth preserving; and is threatened by the influx of foreigners who do not share it?

CANADA has seldom thought about its character. Until the present generation it might be argued that there was no national character to think about. I happen to believe that the national character has existed for a long time, for more than a hundred years at least, but we have become generally conscious of it only in recent times. At all events it exists, if any other people, even from that of our neighbors a few miles away, and it becomes more recognizable every day.

Probably the immigrant will be the first to recognize it. Even if he comes from Britain, speaks a common language and shares a common heritage of history, he will see that the Canadian is no longer a transplanted European but a special kind of creature. Whether he is a desirable or undesirable kind of creature is not the point. The point is that he has become unlike anybody else.

THE immigrant should also be the first to understand why that character and inward being are important to Canada. An Englishman, for example, regards the character of England as so precious that it is worth any sacrifice, and the English race is great precisely because it maintains and, if necessary, fights for its character. The Scottish people are even more conscious of their heritage and maintain it, as a part of the Canadian character, even when they have been here for several generations.

We should have no need, therefore, to explain why we in Canada are determined to maintain something we have built for ourselves out of the amalgam of many races and many histories.

THE practical question raised by Mr. Pickersgill is whether immigration threatens to dilute or alter the character of Canada. Up to now the answer is clearly in the negative.

Over the last fifty years we have received pretty large immigration and, since the last war, a million and a quarter newcomers, until today one out of fifteen Canadians is either an immigrant or the child of an immigrant. Yet all this time the Canadian character has been growing steadily more recognizable, distinct and solid. The immigrants, for the most part, have accepted and absorbed our thoughtways and, in a generation or so, are no longer foreigners but Canadians.

At present our immigration is limited, according to Mr. Pickersgill, by the difficulty of finding immigrants in Britain and western Europe, from which we chiefly desire them. As he says, we cannot conscript desirable immigrants. Whether this is desirable or not, we are in no present danger of overwhelming the Canadian economy or the Canadian character by a mass movement of peoples.

IT WOULD be impossible to argue, however, that such a movement, if large enough, could not alter the character of Canada. Of course it could and would. Whether that would be a good or bad thing is a matter of individual opinion. There can be no doubt about the majority opinion of Canadians. They have no intention of surrendering a character built over a long time with considerable labor.

Like every other national policy in the state, immigration policy will be governed by that sovereign consideration. Every policy will be expanded or contracted as it seems to promote or retard the growth of the thing we call Canadianism (for lack of a better word). That, I gather, is what Mr. Pickersgill was saying in Victoria last week.

Some people cannot understand why the space satellite will not fall straight back to the ground. The best everyday comparison, though not actually a correct one, is to picture a stone being whirled round on the end of a string. So long as the stone is moving quickly enough to keep the string tight, it will not fall. Gravity acts in much the same way as the string, and so long as the satellite remains moving it will not normally fall—moreover, out in airless space there is nothing to halt it once it has been set in motion.

THE GOODNESS OF THE MILK

Some Like It Fat, Some Like It Skim

BRITISH Columbia in 1954 produced more than 769 million pounds of milk, of which just under half was sold as fluid milk and cream.

That sounds like a lot of milk, particularly to anyone who never sees more than a quart bottleful at a time. But it represents not much more than half the production in each of the three prairie provinces, whose populations are much less than that of B.C. About 20 per cent of the product on the prairies was sold as a fluid.

Ontario and Quebec, of course, are the big dairy producers of Canada, with 5.4 and 5.8 billion pounds respectively in 1954. About 30 per cent of the product in these two provinces is sold in fluid form. Cheese, butter, concentrates and other foods account for the rest.

It is interesting to note the contrast in these provinces with the situation in British Columbia, which apparently drinks a much greater proportion of its milk than any part of Canada. The national average for fluid sales is 30 per cent of total production, compared with B.C.'s 48 per cent.

BELOW AVERAGE
As Mr. Justice J. V. Clynne points out in his monumental report on the British Columbia milk industry, this does not mean that the people of this province drink more per person, than their fellow Canadians. Per capita milk consumption here, in fact, is less than the Canadian average.

MILK

It is indeed refreshing that Mr. Justice J. V. Clynne, after mature consideration has now shown that a lot of Milk Board regulation which we have suffered from for many years is after all unnecessary. We have simply been led up a blind alley and now must go back to the old reliable competitive system, which, after all is the only thing that will give the man on the street a fair deal so long as combines are not allowed.

For 10 years myself and others here have "fought" for cash and carry milk at cash and carry prices, much to the displeasure of the distributors, milk drivers, and even the producers. They never had a reasonable argument against it, but self-interest prompted their opposition, even though, as Mr. Justice Clynne points out, the only way to increase consumption is to keep the cost down to the consumer.

Vancouver Island is now producing plenty of milk, the producers are getting a higher price than on the mainland, there has been no real objection to a slightly higher price in Victoria but the treatment the consumers have been getting has been most unfair as the Commission report shows.

Another sufferer is the store keeper, for years he has had to handle milk on one cent a quart (4 per cent gross profit), handle and return bottles as well as supply refrigeration.

The whole thing badly needed a shakeup.

Now we should be able to buy milk in cartons if we so desire, but not at 26 cents, thank you.
FRANK H. PARTRIDGE.

FUEL TAXES

Premier Bennett states that Provincial Government taxes have brought in twenty million dollars in excess of estimates. Would it be too much to ask that he remove the unjust tax on domestic heating of electricity and gas, to bring these in line with tax-free oil, coal, wood and sawdust?

Homes depending on electric heat are further penalized by the Power Company with an "overload" rate of $2.50 per meter "unit" per month which can amount to as much as $20 per month penalty over and above the normal charges for electricity consumed.

To this iniquitous charge the Government adds "sales" tax, on something which is no more a "purchase" than is a parking meter fine.

A year ago the B.C. Electric Company, replied to my protest as follows:—"The collection of the S.S. Tax has been imposed upon us by the Provincial Government and we have no alternative but to add it to your bill." Now that Mr. Bennett has relented on the individual meal tax, could he give a Christmas present to the electric and gas users throughout B.C. by also removing this unjust tax?

POPPY DAY CAMPAIGN 1955

The Annual Poppy Day Campaign is now finalized, and the committee has had an opportunity to pause and realize the great success of our 1955 effort.

A campaign of this extent could never reach the hoped for objective without the co-operation and support of several hundred people. Our experience this year has been really amazing, and it is impossible for us to thank each one in person as we would like to do. I would, therefore, seek the indulgence of the public at large, and say through your paper "Thank you, one and all."

The ladies of the Auxiliaries to all ex-Service Organizations organized the street sale of poppies in an admirable manner, assisted by about 300 individual workers, and their efforts were largely responsible for our success. The Normal school, Boy Scouts, I.O.D.E., Red Cross, and St. John's Ambulance are among the larger organizations giving whole-hearted support.

Publicity kindly provided by radio stations kept our message constantly before the public, with the newspapers supporting in their usual efficient way.

Our undertaking is now nearly completed, and with a final word of appreciation to the merchants, business men and individuals who bought poppies and displayed them, I again say "Thank You." We feel that Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt sincerely carried out their obligation to "Remember Them."

AGAINST LOCAL TV STATION

On the question of the proposed local TV station—I certainly endorse the opinions of E. M. Griffiths of Devonshire road. Surely we have all the TV entertainment we can handle in Victoria.

There are a lot of places on Vancouver Island which can not get TV and would be glad to get the channel allotted to Victoria. If the experts are right in assuming it would interfere with our present reception, we should be glad to let anyone have it who wants it.

We have CBTU and KVOS. They can handle all Victoria advertising. So why spoil the reception we are now getting, which is the best in Canada?

Also while on the subject, I would be interested in hearing from any one, having trouble with radio interference very often when turning the radio on in the morning to a local station. We get both local stations on the same dial number. It is so bad sometimes that we just have to tune in another station.

The districts I know that are affected are Scott and Haultain street, Yates and Fernwood road and Oscar street. I have friends in those districts who can confirm this.

BILL BRYAN.

By B. A. TOBIN

capita consumer, Quebec being the highest with 1.03 pints per day.

Nutrition experts say that children under 12 should drink at least one pint a day, adolescents 1½ pints and adults at least one pint. Canada, and particularly the western province, thus have a considerable deficit to make up from a health standpoint.

Why should this be? What is so special about milk that it should form such an important part of the human diet? How can a food that is 87 per cent water be so beneficial?

The answer, of course, lies in the 13 per cent of milk that is solid. In this part are found the proteins, the calcium, phosphorus, and riboflavin. These "form nine per cent in solid form. The other four per cent is butterfat, containing Vitamin A and calories.

But Vitamin A is found in many foods, and calories for many people are all too plentiful. Skim milk has only 84 calories to the cupful, whereas whole milk has 123.

RELATIVELY SCARCE
So the secret lies in the non-fat solids, particularly the calcium and riboflavin. Nutritionists have found that in the average Canadian diet these essentials are relatively scarce. Calcium is usually the element that is deficient when diets are analysed.

The calcium content of milk is not only generous but it is in a form easily assimilated by the body, as is the protein component. Milk, and dairy products derived from it, are the most important source of riboflavin (Vitamin B).

It will be realized from this that the healthful qualities of what is so often called "rich" milk, that is, milk with an impressive depth of cream in the neck of the bottle, are equally applicable to skim milk.

Mr. Justice Clynne noted this in his remark that "A number of witnesses referred to milk as being "better" milk because it contained a greater amount of butterfat than standard, which contains 3.5 per cent butterfat."

He went on to quote from the report of Dean Clement's Commission in 1928, which said: "It is a great misfortune to the human race that the relative values of cream and skim milk in nutrition are so frequently wholly misunderstood, and that it is so commonly thought that the cream is the most important and valuable constituent, the skim milk the comparatively valueless one. The actual facts are almost exactly the reverse of these unfortunately widespread and popular beliefs."

VALUE KNOWN
Apparently the information has been getting around a little better since 1928, and the value of skim milk is more widely known.

Powdered milk, which is made from skim milk, has become increasingly popular in recent years. This is mainly, of course, because of its much lower cost per quart of beverage—about one-quarter the price of whole milk. But its popularity is also influenced by the knowledge that it is safe and healthful.

It is necessary to add a further note regarding Jersey milk, which has a much higher cream content than other breeds. This is the basis of argument for most advocates of Jersey milk—and it is to be noted that Mr. Justice Clynne recommends that the name "Jersey" be confined in future to milk from that breed and not applied merely to any milk with high fat content.

But analysis shows that along with the higher butterfat Jersey, and Guernsey, also contain higher percentages of the other solids. It is in this latter factor, it is suggested, that their greater "goodness" lies.

Tomorrow milk prices will be considered.

My Millionaires and a Plumber

LATE in September I began warning my friends with new summer homes at Shawnigan to look out for the frost.

It clamps down hard, I told them. You walk out after a fairly balmy autumn weekend, turn the key in the lock and go home. Then, zip, and the temperature skids down. Your plumbing freezes, your porcelain cracks. The ice swells in the pipes and they develop long fissures. Watch it, I said, or it'll cost you a lotta dough and a lotta labor come spring when you want to open up again.

Somewhat, among the knots in my head, I harbor the idea that I'm getting to be an old Shawnigan hand. It's only right for me to help newcomers avoid some of the dangers and difficulties of summer home ownership at the lake.

So last weekend, just one week after the freeze-up, the boss of our house and I went up to the shack at Shawnigan. We turned on the taps and nothing happened—a few drips, maybe, but no gush of water that should have come from a storage tank better than half full.

Which means, I suppose, that I'm an amateur plumber again—or will be when the thaw sets in and I want to use my primitive water system.

LITTLE TO LOSE

Not that there can be much damage. At most it'll only entail the purchase of 20 or 30 feet of second-hand half-inch pipe, a few skinned knuckles and about a day's work with a stillson wrench. Winter can't do much damage to the shack. Of course the snow could push the roof in, or carpenter ants could pack the foundations away. But suppose either happens, what have we lost? Very little in terms of dollars and cents.

Now with my friends who have made real homes of their summer places, it's different. What a good freeze-up would do to some of the bathrooms up there, if the pipes haven't been drained, is sad to contemplate. With our bathroom nothing can happen, except a little more mud on the path.

This, I suppose, is one of the very few times when I can feel lucky compared to my Shawnigan neighbors with up-to-date homes and all the conveniences of civilization. If demolition or severe damage threatens my establishment—well, nuthin' from nuthin's still nuthin'.

But it isn't the only time I feel at a mild advantage. Our place is still a camp, furnished with improvisations and curtailed with spider-webs—a shanty where the creatures of nature can be creatures of nature, even the human ones.

It's possible to go to our shack on a rainy day and—since I fixed the leak in the roof—realize that not so long ago Canadians hadn't much time to do anything but keep themselves fed and warm. You get back to the essentials. Mind you, we practice our own self-deceptions even in this somewhat affected approach to the pioneer.

NOT QUITE PIONEERS

We don't starve because there are canned goods available. But there was a time, a generation or so before mine, when Shawnigan folk, what few there were of them, could pretty well live off the country. There was game to be shot, fish to be caught. And at a pinch a good woodsman could still survive without the benefits of 20th Century civilization at the lake.

Sometimes I think a man might even survive 20th Century civilization if he could stay primitive enough up there and keep the second half of the 20th Century out.

Not that there's much chance of my view prevailing among friends who have built their magnificent summer homes at the lake. And I wouldn't want my opinions to be embraced by all of them.

It's nice for me and the other hill-billies to put on shoes and visit the Gold Coast occasionally. They drink a better brand of tea up there. They're kindly, they're generous and they accord us backwoods types a sort of distinction—a Jeeters Lester distinction, perhaps, but a distinction anyhow.

I'll be thinking of that and planning an uninvited tea visit next spring when I'm under the shack at Shawnigan putting in new second-hand pipe to replace the old second-hand pipe that I'm afraid hasn't done too well during the freeze-up.

Hard-Hitting Campaign Drawn Up To Publicize Safe-Driving Day

Vancouver Island Traffic and Safety Council, meeting in Nanaimo at the weekend, laid plans to give full support to S-D Day—safe driving day—proclaimed here for Dec. 1 by the B.C. cabinet, in Ottawa by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and in Washington by President Dwight Eisenhower.

Aim of the day is a 24-hour accident-free period in Canada and the U.S.

Tried for the first time last year in the U.S., the appeal cut down on road mishaps but, even so, 81 persons lost their lives in car crashes on that day.

ALL-OUT

This year the message will go forth in churches and schools, homes and offices, through newspapers, TV and radio in an effort to cut highway fatalities to nil on this one day, encourage safer driving the rest of the year.

Part of B.C.'s driver safety program is carried out as a normal function of the motor vehicle branch, particularly with reference to poor drivers who have been involved in traffic violations.

5.4 PER CENT SUSPENDED

Of a total 475,000 drivers in the province, 5.4 per cent of them—26,000—are presently under suspension for periods ranging from one day to three years indefinite.

A total of 30 B.C. drivers is under suspension for the full three years, and the department is not committed to reinstate driving privileges at the end of this time.

Mr. St. Laurent said he "heartily endorses" S-D Day, one of the first major projects of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference formed last May.

In Canada in 1954, 2,586 people were killed in traffic accidents. About 60,000 were injured, and property damage topped $100,000,000.

"Reduced to statistics, these facts are shocking enough," said Mr. St. Laurent, "but translated into terms of human suffering and productive loss, they tell a story that should convince all Canadians that the time has come for drastic action."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Setting the Sea on Fire

LONDON—At random YOU CAN NOW buy your milk each day laced with liquor. Instead of paying just a few pence for your pint you can pay around 45 cents and have it enlivened with rum, whisky, brandy. Why on earth anybody would want alcoholic milk I can't imagine, but apparently it's the latest step in civilization's march of progress.

THE TRUTH IS OUT about what was regarded during the war as Britain's top-secret super-defence gimmick—setting the sea on fire. It was generally believed that the big trick this country had up its sleeve for use if and when the Germans invaded from across the Channel was to set fire to the sea by a hush-hush means and greet the enemy landing craft with an inferno through which they weren't likely to penetrate.

A strong rumor, never officially confirmed, had it that German surface craft which had tried a raid on the south of England coast had been exposed to this defence by fire and had scurried back to France to rush the severely burned survivors to hospital.

But it appears that this defence idea was just a big propaganda lie. It was cooked up by the men who formed Britain's Political War Executive, an organization devoted to lowering the enemy's morale and wasting his money and manpower. John Baker White, who had been one of the propaganda team, tells in a new book called "Big Lie" how they fabricated the fire defence story and other such bits of calculated misinformation.

The lie was planted by British agents in Europe who indulged in deliberate "careless talk." The part about burned German troops being rushed to hospital was true. It was a coincidence that helped to further the lie. Just after the propaganda got under way a number of German troops were badly burned in an RAF incendiary raid on the Calais area and their arrival from the coast at hospitals inland was rumored throughout Germany as a result of coming up against the British defence of setting the sea on fire.

How successful this piece of propaganda was is borne out by the fact that credence was given to it on official levels. The Germans built special asbestos-covered barges and developed other ways and means for dealing with it.

UNDERSTATEMENT of the week: Returning to London after the play he was in—"Island of Goats"—survived on Broadway for only a week. British stage and screen star Laurence Harvey said: "I found acting on Broadway exciting and stimulating. And I didn't stay long enough for them to get bored with me."

SINCE SMOKED SALMON is $1 a quarter-pound, the men behind the snack bars cut it mighty thin when they're giving you a portion. I was sitting beside a customer who eyed his very disparagingly and said to the man who had served him: "That was close—you almost missed."

Briton's Success in Wheat At Toronto Seen Significant

LONDON (CP)—British agriculturists are hailing a 37-year-old Essex farmer as Britain's hard-wheat king for a grain-growing achievement that has possible serious implications for Canadian farmers.

Leonard Templeman, general manager of the Lincolnshire seed, specialist firm of Nickersons, predicted at a press conference that within two years koga two wheat will allow Britain a savings of $10,000,000 on hard-wheat imports from Canada. This would mean a corresponding loss to already hard-pressed Canadian farmers.

A sample of koga two wheat grown by Hodge placed 18th out of 38 entries, but more important in British eyes was the fact that it was placed ahead of Canadian "Manitoba" wheat, the most popular hard-grained wheat with British millers.

British millers mix Manitoba with the softer English wheats to produce a loaf acceptable to the British palate. English wheats are regarded as too soft and stodgy for making bread by themselves.

SPECIAL MESSAGE to CUSTOMERS of the B of M

HERE'S HOW

FEELING SLUGGISH due to constipation? Not me!

I'd never heard of a diuretic when my Old Country neighbour suggested that was what I needed to get over feeling listless and run-down. But I tried Kruschen on his advice and it's made a new woman of me! Now I realize that a diuretic can be just as important as a laxative in ridding the body of clogging wastes. Kruschen is both a gentle laxative and a diuretic. Actually the salts in Kruschen are similar to those in famous healing Spas and they act in the same way to tone up a sluggish system. Get Kruschen and see how much better you'll feel.

YOUR 2 Billion Dollars

OIL THE WHEELS OF PROGRESS

In a thousand ways, the money you have on deposit at the B of M is working for you and for Canada... creating new opportunities for Canadian enterprise and new jobs for Canadians in every calling.

Yes, in all fields of Canadian endeavour, your savings are helping finance projects large and small... supplying much of the money necessary for growth and expansion of our industry and commerce.

Let's take a look at the facts behind the figures in the B of M's annual report for 1955, and see how your money—in the form of loans and investments—oils the wheels of progress:

At the end of the Bank's year, October 31, 1955, over two million Canadians had on deposit at the B of M the sum of $2,591,326,311—the highest year-end total on record. Although much of this money belongs to institutions and business firms, more than half of these deposits represent the personal savings of Canadians in every walk of life... savings that are bringing benefits to you and to Canada.

The money you save at the B of M is helping to ensure our country's expansion and progress—in the form of loans to Canadian farmers, miners, fishermen, oil men, lumbermen and ranchers; to industrial and business enterprises; to Provincial and Municipal Governments; and to salaried people in all walks of life. As of October 31, B of M loans totalled $1,057,444,001—the highest in the Bank's history. In untold ways, these dollars are contributing dynamically to the maintenance and improvement of our standard of living.

At the close of the year, the B of M had $975,361,319 invested in high-grade government bonds and other public securities which have a ready market. This money is helping to finance government projects for the betterment of the country and the welfare of Canadians at large. Other securities held by the Bank—which include a diversified list of high-quality short-term industrial issues—bring total investments to $1,214,559,875.

The message these figures express is a confident and encouraging one. Actually, it is your message... for it is made possible by your savings.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Critic's Class)
A (Don't Miss)

BB (Worthwhile)
B (For Rainy Days
C (To put to time)

(B) "GENTLEMEN MARRY BRUNETTES" (Odeon) — Billed as a "big, buxom musical," United Artists' "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes" is a bust.

For one thing, the plot about two song-and-dance sisters (Jane Russell and Jeanne Crain) journeying to Paris and being taken over by a broken-down theatrical agent, Scott Brady, and his janitor-about-Paris friend, Alan Young (Young is really a millionaire) is surely older than the Eiffel Tower. Rudy Vallee is also there as a gay old dog who used to be the Jones girls' mother, but they didn't even allow him to sing one of his famous old songs in his famous old nasal tone with which he used to slay the sheiks and shebas of the '20s.

A PITY ALL THIS, BECAUSE Miss Russell has proven quite adept at musicals, keeping in mind her performance in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" while Miss Crain doesn't have to do anything to be enjoyed. The trouble with "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes" in addition to the hackneyed plot is the old complaint—good tunes. Even the oldies such as "You're Driving Me Crazy" were schmaltzed up. Alan Young, whom we usually like as a comedian, wasn't too funny because there wasn't much material for him to be funny with.

As usual the CinemaScope photography is excellent. The sets and decor are all they should be. But these things alone won't turn a musical into a hit. There has to be good rousing tunes, a lift and a spontaneous gaiety—all of which were lacking in "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes."

Rubinfoff's 'Musical Mission' Heard by 5,000 Young and Old

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Rubinfoff was luckier than a lot of other artists who have visited Victoria in recent months. He played to nearly 5,000 listeners—student and adult—during his one-day musical mission here Monday.

The word "mission" comes aptly to mind, not only because Rubinfoff delights in playing to school assemblies in the cause of music appreciation, but because his whole manner of performance and approach is reminiscent of an old-style revivalist.

Monday evening's audience of more than 600 adults followed an afternoon session at S. J. Willis when 800 students heard the artist.

Rubinfoff offers as much to the eye of the beholder as the ear. Strings fairly seem to sizzle, the bow shimmers, plucked notes fly until one begins to wonder if the violinist has more than the normal complement of hands.

POUNDING RHYTHM

At one moment he is fairly prancing as he paws the stage in a pounding rhythm, the next Rubinfoff's whole body is straining heavenward as though in pursuit of some exalting-vision as soul-searching melody pours forth from his fabulous fiddle.

There is no style—from boogie all the way through classic and back to hoe-down—that Rubin-off has not made his own. Which means that, master of all, he has enveloped the entire gamut in the flamboyant aura of his own personality.

He delights in the purple passage (his own arrangement of Debussy's "Clair de Lune"), the lurid dramatic (ditto arrangement of Warsaw Concerto and Chopin's A major Polonaise) and the sentimental.

He knows how to turn on the pathos and the laughter. In short, he is a first-class showman and a rare one into the bargain.

A close partnership exists between Rubinfoff and his accompanist, pianist Homer Phillips, who is also capable of doing anything to a piano that it is possible to do. Phillips was heard in two blood-curdling rhythmic virtuosités of his own arrangement, "Tea For Two" and "I Got Rhythm."

League May Fold; Ashbee Punches Ref

Unless the crowds pick up almost immediately, it will be a short season for the Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League. But for Don Ashbee, bad-tempered Nanaimo Clipper forward, it will be a short season, regardless of the crowds.

Another slim crowd, only 298 fans this time, few enough to prompt league president Doug Fletcher to remark sadly, "unless we get a bigger crowd next Monday, we will have to start thinking of folding the league," saw Drake Hotel upset Clippers, 6-3.

They also saw Ashbee, the league's bad boy, punch referee Johnny Ruryk and draw an indefinite suspension.

Ashbee's self-inflicted troubles started when he loudly protested a two-minute hooking penalty to Red Carr. In spite of a warning from referee Ruryk, Ashbee continued his arguments and was given a 10-minute misconduct.

Ashbee climaxed his arguments by punching Ruryk and knocking him to the ice. He was given a match misconduct and left with the game only two minutes and six seconds old.

The match penalty carries an automatic suspension until Ashbee's case is dealt with. Fletcher is turning over a full report of the incident to the British Columbia Hockey Association for further action.

Nanaimo brought only nine players down for the game and, with Ashbee out of action, finished with only two substitutes.

Drakes took a 1-0 lead in the first period on Ab Wiebe's goal and split four goals with the Islanders in the second period. However, Drakes broke the game open with three goals in the third period, including a successful penalty shot by Ron Bremner.

Vic High Ruggers Get Mild Surprise

Victoria High School's Russell Cup hopes took a bit of a bruising Monday at the hands of a surprisingly strong and speedy Shawnigan Lake team.

With the annual Howard Russell Cup rugby series between Vic High and Oak Bay High due to open Friday, the defending champion Vic High team was jolted when they went down to a 15-3 defeat in an exhibition game with Shawnigan at Carnarvon Park Monday. The loss was Vic High's second in three games.

First game in the colorful series will be played on Vic High's field Friday afternoon with the second match billed for Wednesday and a third, if it is needed, at a later date, not yet confirmed.

Pushed around by Vic High's heavier and more aggressive scrum, Shawnigan won the game on the superior speed of their backfield, particularly the break-away ability of three-quarters Ralph Vandershuys.

PGA Boosts Prize Money

CHICAGO (BUP)—The professional golfers association has announced a winter tournament schedule that includes a boost in prize money in seven events.

Last event on the winter tour, which opens Jan. 6, will be the April 26-29 Las Vegas, Nev., tournament of champions.

Moore Leads QHL Scoring

MONTREAL (CP) — Jimmy Moore, the speed merchant of Chicoutimi Saguenéens, collected three assists during the week to skip to the leadership in the Quebec Hockey League scoring race.

Official league statistics, released Monday, show the hustling right-winger, who sat out last season with a broken leg, has amassed 20 points on six goals and 14 assists. Moore was tied for second position last week.

SAN JOSE Calif.—Star Gony, 138, the Philippines, outpointed Jorge Melias, 141, Mexico (10).

PATTERSON TOPS POLL

MONTREAL (BUP) — Hal Patterson, the Montreal Alouettes' star offensive end and defensive halfback, has been named 1955 winner of the Lord Calvert "player of distinction" trophy.

Vandershuys opened the scoring early in the first half when he took the ball at mid-field, shifted twice, found a clear path and went all the way for a try which was converted by Burke Cuppage.

After the Vic High scrum pushed Shawnigan back to their own 25-yard line, the Lakers were called offside and Bob McKee booted the penalty kick to leave Shawnigan ahead, 5-3 at the half.

Vandershuys ran for two more tries in the second half and Cuppage converted both as Shawnigan relentlessly pulled away from the tiring Vic High team.

Gerry Lauder's rink from Victoria was still among the rarified ranks of the undefeated today as the Totem Grey Cup Bonspiel in Vancouver moved into its third day.

Lauder kept alive in both the Totem and Evergreen primaries by winning two games Monday, stretching his unbeaten streak to four. He downed Ken Fuls of Peachland and W. O. Harper of Dawson Creek to reach the 32s of the Evergreen event, and the 64s of the Totem.

Other city rinks aren't faring quite so well. Dr. K. Moysey, who lost his second game in the Totem event, moved ahead in the Evergreen with a victory over A. D. Vance of Prince Rupert.

Glen Walkey duplicated Moysey's effort in the Evergreen by downing Bill Nairn of Winnipeg after dropping out of the Totem, while Frank Garraway dropped out of both primaries Monday by losing to J. H. Parry of Barons, Alta., and Rolly Dolzich of Edmonton.

Lauder is also the only undefeated Vancouver Island entry in the 'spiel. Jack Coates of Parksville, undefeated until Monday night, lost his first game to Clark Leatherdale of Winnipeg, in the Evergreen primary.

Of the favorites, 1955 dominion champion Garnett Campbell of Avonlea, Sask., is still rolling along in both the primaries. Also still undefeated is Gary Thode of Saskatoon, twice junior Canadian champion, and Leo Johnston of Winnipeg, former Brier winner.

LADYSMITH TO THE FORE

It was up to another rink, Dr. A. H. Bowker of Ladysmith, to knock Billy Rose of Sedgewick, Alta., from the unbeaten ranks in the second round of the Totem event.

Rose, former dominion champ, met Matt Baldwin of Edmonton, 1954 champion, in the feature game of the day, and lost 9-7, to drop out of the Evergreen, also.

Hitler's Private Life

Rommel's meticulous obedience to orders and his obvious party loyalty quickly made him Hitler's favorite general

By HEINZ LINGE, Hitler's Personal Valet

(World Copyright 1955)

BERLIN—When the German army was held fast by frost on the Russian front in the winter of 1941, Hitler was able to give more and more time to the war in North Africa.

He had long been uneasy about the ability of his Italian ally to carry out the war in North Africa, and he felt that if the conquest of Egypt were to be achieved, it would require German troops and the direction of a German general.

Hitler picked Erwin Rommel for the job and sent him to the front. I first remember Rommel when he came to headquarters as staff colonel in charge of transport in Poland. There already were stories around headquarters of his meticulous obedience to Hitler's personal orders, and these were brought to the notice of Hitler.

Senior officers and party leaders had complained personally to Hitler that Rommel had been overzealous in carrying out orders on an occasion when they wanted to join in a "party day" celebration.

"GOOD PARTY MAN"

Instead of securing Rommel's dismissal, Hitler sent for him and congratulated him on his exact obedience to the Fuehrer's orders.

After his first personal meeting with Rommel, Hitler remarked to me:

"He is a good party man. He thinks as I do. His plans are my own plans. I trust that man; I think that one day he will be a field marshal."

Thereafter Hitler took Rommel with him to every military conference on plans for the conquest of Poland.

"Like me," Hitler said, "Rommel is a man of the people. He understands the German people and he will be the man who will carry out the tasks which are in my mind. He understands me and he will be able to reach the minds of the soldiers, and will convey accurately what I think."

After each conference Rommel and Hitler would sit together studying maps and pinpointing objectives.

SPOKE RIGHT OUT

I believe Rommel impressed Hitler with the clarity of his mind. He was alert and intelligent, he knew his own mind, and in the early days at least, was not afraid to speak out. He did not always agree with the Fuehrer and was not afraid to say so.

When the Polish campaign ended and the attack on France was about to begin, Hitler decided to reward Colonel Rommel. He asked him what he would like to do in France.

"I want to command a Panzer division," Rommel replied. Immediately he took over the 7th Panzer Division under General Guderian.

He was an immediate success in Hitler's eyes and in May, 1940, about halfway through the blitzkrieg, Hitler made a special journey to the forward headquarters to congratulate both Guderian and Rommel.

During the campaign in France, so far as I can remember, Rommel was the only senior officer who was not given detailed orders from headquarters. He was allowed to move and fight his division as he thought fit.

Gauleiter Hanke was attached to forward headquarters at the time. Previously he had been first State Secretary to Dr. Goebbels and, therefore, well known to Hitler. Hanke was moved out of Goebbels' ministry because of his outspoken views on an affair Goeb-els was having with a film actress.

ROMMEL PRAISED

It may well be that Hanke's presence at battle headquarters, where he was greatly impressed with Rommel's abilities, eventually led to his selection as the commander-in-chief of North Africa. I remember Hitler telling me that Hanke had impressed him with his descriptions of Rommel as "a strong man, a leader of men, a man who knew what his objectives were and went straight for them."

Of course, Hitler's previous association with Rommel helped a great deal, and it may be that Hanke was merely telling Hitler what he thought he wanted to know.

In any case, Hitler eventually was saying: "Rommel is a man who sees things as I see them."

He is better than my generals. He is also a good party man." (Next: Linge tells of Rommel's appointment to North Africa.)

As another indication of progress in this brave new world of ours, the barbers of Chicago have decided to dispense with light persiflage, talk less about the weather and sports, and to quote an Associated Press dispatch "get civilized and preach on things that will be of benefit to the public."

Barber: Good morning, sir. Haircut? Very good, sir.

Customer: Howya today, chum?

Barber: My constitution seems to be bearing up very well despite the fact I am somewhat troubled, mentally.

Customer: Ya goin' nuts, or sumpun?

Barber: Oh, no, sir, I have no fears for the adequate maintenance of my present cranial balance, but on occasion the weight of consideration of matters civic does tend to become onerous.

Customer: Yeah. Um. Not bad weather we're havin', eh?

Barber: Very satisfactory, sir. But it has occurred to me, do those high up in civic affairs, those elected representatives of the people who are charged with the disbursement of public funds in a manner calculated to be most advantageous to the majority; do those holding the reins of municipal government, have sufficient foresight to anticipate any possible crisis which might arise out of unexpected inclemency, such as snow, rain, hail, hurricane or tidal wave?

Customer: No clipper onna side. Tanks. Uh. Who yuh pickin' t' win th' Great Cup?

Barber: I fear I haven't had much opportunity to exercise my cerebral considerations in that direction, sir. I have been devoting the majority of my meditations to matters which will be of eventual benefit to the public, of which you, sir, if I may so say, are a member.

Customer: I ain't much for joinin' up and bein' a member of things.

Barber: Ah, but sir, you must realize the inherent right which is—er—inherent with all of us, and that right is the right to knowledge! Knowledge which will help us to march ever forward and upward behind the sterling leadership of those whose lives are devoted to the maintenance of civic virtue at all levels.

Customer: Ouch! Hey, stick that chunka ear back on, will ya?

Barber: Sorry, sir. But since we barbers have decided to immerse ourselves in the deeper problems of life; to leave no leaf unturned in our ceaseless pursuit of literature, the arts, the sciences which bear on the progress of humanity; since, in short, we have dedicated ourselves to the preaching of the gospel of Important Things, I haven't had time to get my scissors sharpened.

Customer: So awright, awright. What am I supposed to do, bring me an exercise book wit' me?

Barber: Which brings to mind the problems facing us when we deal with the education of the young. Do you, sir, as a responsible citizen, pay sufficient attention to the multitude of items included in the current curriculum in primary and secondary schools?

Customer (desperately): Look, who yuh pickin' t' win th' Great Cup?

Barber (looking around him furtively): Confidentially, I have a cousin who is walking out with a young lady whose brother knows a bellboy at the Empress Hotel, and he overheard Pop Ivy say . . .

Temporary repairs to Makedonia's propeller are holding up, and the freighter is able to keep her wheel turning over slowly.

Community Chest campaign officials were encouraged today by the first answers to the mail appeal to "put a top on the Red Feather."

Officials asked recipients of letters to make their additional donation as soon as possible so that local charities may not have to go short next year.

A small moulded box that parachuted to a landing on Butler Bros. airstrip in Keating Sunday morning was identified today as a radiosonde.

"United States weather agencies at Tattush send them off twice daily, at 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.," said weatherman William Mackie. "They are suspended from a balloon, and rise to about 50,000 to 80,000 feet."

"As they ascend they record and transmit temperature, humidity and pressure readings," he said. "When the balloons burst they descend on a little parachute."

Due to a reported incidence of tooth decay affecting 50 per cent of secondary school students, the board indicated Monday night another school dentist would be employed in 1956. Two are now on the school staff.

In view of the difficulty in predicting the number of pupils who will seek entry to Oak Bay Elementary School in 1956, the board declined to turn it over to Oak Bay municipality for wrecking.

The municipality wants the site for a proposed new municipal hall. The board had hoped to abandon the old school as new units were completed last year but lack of teaching space had not been overcome.

The board approved use of Lansdowne Junior High School, Victoria College and Richmond Elementary School by the Summer School of Education during July and August next year.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett Monday denied that B.C.'s tax revenues in the current fiscal year have exceeded estimates by $23,000,000.

"At no time did I say that," declared the premier, in commenting on newspaper editorials which have demanded tax cuts in view of the "surplus."

The premier said during the Lillooet by-election that the government had over $20,000,000 "cash in hand" which could be used to pay off the province's share of school construction borrowings.

Monday, the premier said this money was not surplus, but that it was "uncommitted money" at the time of his original announcement.

"All I said was that we had $23,000,000 in excess . . . in cash on hand," the premier said. He added that all editorials asking tax cuts on the grounds the province has a "very unsound" basis.

Premier Bennett indicated the amount has now been committed to an expanded highway program.

COLORS SAME ONLY DIFFERENT

Over 10,000 renewal notices were put in the mails this morning as the start of the annual operation to put new licence plates on B.C.'s 400,000 cars and trucks. Pat Green, supervising clerk at the Victoria Motor Vehicle Branch Headquarters, holds one of the new plates. The 1956 colors are the reverse of this year's plates—with yellow letters on a black background. Licence plates will go on sale throughout the province on Jan. 3.

1,100 STOPPED IN LICENSE CHECK

Spot road checks are being made on Vancouver Island highways in an effort to catch motorists who have not renewed their five-year drivers' licences.

More than 1,100 drivers were stopped by RCMP road checks here over the weekend and about 30 did not have up-to-date driver's licences.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner warned more checks can be expected during the next two weeks.

RCMP said drivers caught with expired licences face court action.

20 IN 1,000 A three-hour road check on Patricia Bay Highway by Sidney RCMP on Sunday afternoon covered 1,000 drivers. Of that number, 20 were found to be driving illegally.

Another check on the Trans-Canada Highway near Goldstream by Colwood RCMP caught six drivers of 150 stopped.

RCMP is awaiting instructions from the attorney-general before ordering a full-scale crackdown on violators.

Figures released by the motor vehicles branch last week showed an estimated 21,000 drivers in British Columbia were carrying expired licences.

SOME 17,000 licences were renewed during October and 12,000 in September—far short of an estimated 25,000 licences expiring in each of those months.

An official of the motor vehicles branch said "very few" drivers were renewing licences. He said nearly 200 drivers in this area should appear each day for renewals.

Drivers have been urged to check licence expiry dates, which are clearly punched. Renewals are issued with a minimum of delay.

Usual fine imposed in Greater Victoria courts for conviction on a charge of failing to have a current driver's licence is $25. In some instances, costs are added to the penalty.

'Shifts' to Continue At Two City Schools

Shift classes at two city schools will continue longer than was anticipated, Greater Victoria School Board was told Monday night.

Delays in construction of additions to Willows and Oaklands Schools—adverse weather and a shortage of steel sash—blamed for delays of up to two months.

Architects Polson and Siddall set late January and late March as probable opening dates. Willows is the most advanced. Shift systems are in effect at the two schools until completion of the 10-room additions underway at present. Builder is Farmer Construction Ltd.

It was learned that the delay in obtaining steel is due to its importation from England. A savings in cost of about $9,000 was the reason the steel is being purchased there.

Annual School Drama Festival of Greater Victoria schools will be held March 5 to 10. School facilities will be made available at a nominal charge.

The board was informed the third Conference on Adult Education will be held in Vancouver Nov. 30 on the PNE grounds. Representing the board will be chairman W. P. Jeune, trustee Mrs. E. M. Maunsell, Alex Turnbull and J. H. Dalgleish of the administrative staff.

Fleming Wants To Question Top Officials

Special Meeting Asked on Deficit

Saanich Councillor Robert Fleming said today he wants municipal officials called before a special council meeting to answer questions about the large deficit facing the $2,100,000 municipal sewer project.

Mr. Fleming, who has sparked two investigations into municipal administration, said he'll ask R. E. Joseph Casey to call the meeting as soon as an accounting firm has completed an audit of accounts on the sewer project.

"I don't intend just to be given a financial statement and then see the matter dropped," the councillor told the Times. "This matter must be thoroughly aired."

DON'T KNOW

"The ridiculous part of this affair is that Reeve Casey, the municipal engineer (H.D. Dawson) and the municipal clerk (John Tribe) don't know where the project stands financially. It seems they haven't known for months."

The deficit up to the end of May was more than $225,000, but from then until the end of October when a stop work order was given the deficit became much greater.

It's been estimated the deficit now ranges anywhere from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

Another by-law may be necessary to raise money to complete the project, started in 1950.

The accounting firm of Ismay, Bolton and Dunn, is now auditing the Saanich accounts. The firm's report is expected to be completed by next Monday.

INEFFICIENCY

Mr. Fleming blames the deficit on the inefficient way business is conducted at the municipal hall.

He said he was responsible for bringing the sewage project to a halt pending the financial inquiry.

Mr. George Austin, chairman of the public works committee, blamed the situation on the way accounting was carried out at the municipal hall.

Mr. S. W. Brock said he hoped the deficit will not be minimized.

"If Saanich will need another $700,000 to complete the project, then let us say so," he said. "We don't want to have another deficit on top of this one."

Saanich Housing Loans Restricted

'MIXED GRILL' WEATHER OFFERS SNOW, COLD, RAIN

There is a strong possibility of snow falling tonight on higher levels, and mixed rain and snow here in Victoria, weatherman William Mackie said today.

"Arctic air that we suspected last week is beginning to make itself felt up north," he said, "and a storm off the B.C. coast is beginning to draw it from the mainland."

Colder temperatures will prevail, he said. At press time the temperature was 39 degrees, and he expects a minimum of 35 degrees tonight. Maximum Wednesday will be between 35 and 38 degrees.

Winds will be strong easterly Wednesday, he said, and the possibility of a few showers will continue.

Sewer Lack Brings Curb

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation announced today a "tightening up" of loans to speculative subdividers operating in Saanich because the municipality lacks adequate sewerage and drainage schemes in many areas.

The policy does not affect an individual who wants to get a CMHC loan to construct a home on a lot approved by the corporation.

But the CMHC policy will restrict large-scale housing developments in Saanich and will slow down the tempo of home construction until steps are taken by Saanich Council to implement a definite town planning scheme.

MINISTER COMING

James McFarlane, manager of CMHC, said the question of speculative loans for Saanich will be discussed with Public Works Minister Robert Winters when he visits Victoria on Nov. 30.

While there was no definite regulation prohibiting loans to speculative builders, Mr. McFarlane said:

"We will discourage or stall loans to subdividers who want to build and sell homes on spec. We have a responsibility to home owners."

"We feel there is a definite need for some form of town planning in Saanich before we can relax our policy."

The majority of contractors are sympathetic towards the CMHC policy, but regarded the problem facing Saanich as serious in view of the rapidly increasing population in the municipality.

GET ADVICE They feel that a definite move should be made to obtain the services of the Capital Regional Planning Board for a town plan.

George Farmer, contractor, said he agreed with the CMHC policy.

"But I think it is about time that Saanich started preparing plans for further sewerage development," he said. "The problem is serious in some areas."

Contractor J. J. Pollard said he felt the CMHC policy was a "little too severe."

"Unless a large number of houses are to be built in an area," he said, "septic tanks are adequate."

Paul Reece, manager of Schumacher-Riehl, said he understood the problem facing Saanich and the high costs to install an adequate sewerage system.

URGENT DEMAND "But at the same time, the great increase in population and home construction in Saanich has created an urgent demand for additional sewer services," he said. "Mortgage firms are vitally interested in insuring that efficient disposal of sewerage which will protect the health of the people and contribute to the stability of property values."

Mr. Reece said the "time had come for municipal representatives to discuss present and future sewer requirements and methods of financing with the provincial government and CMHC."

Kenneth Genn, chairman of the Saanich Town Planning Commission, said the commission is aware of the problem and the need for a proper town planning scheme.

Meanwhile, there is a move afoot among contractors to discuss the problem with Saanich officials, as well as with both federal and provincial governments.

The question is also expected to be aired at the next meeting of Saanich council.

De-Chlorination Bid Protested by Reeves

Water Board Members Say Issue Not Discussed; Doctors Opposed

By PETE LOUDON

Little or no support appeared today for Mayor Claude Harrison's plan, announced Monday, to have chlorination of the domestic water supply stopped next year.

The Reeves of Saanich and Oak Bay joined Reeves E. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt in protesting the mayor's claim the Greater Victoria Board favored the move.

All three are members of the board and at the time of the mayor's announcement Reeves Wurtele said the matter had never been discussed to his knowledge, and he was not prepared to support the move until he was shown chlorination was no longer needed.

NORRIS AGAINST Reeve Fred Norris of Oak Bay also said the matter had never been discussed by the board and:

"I do not agree that chlorination of the water supply can be abandoned."

Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich said he would never approve unless the departments of health (provincial and municipal) gave their blessing to the plan.

He, too, said the question had never been discussed by the water board despite what the mayor claimed.

At the same time the Victoria Medical Association suggested it would be best to leave the question of water chlorination to authorities with a better understanding of its importance.

The doctors, through the president of their association, Dr. W. A. Trenholme, said:

"We feel a question of such vital importance as this should be left to those who are trained to deal with this matter . . . the public health authorities."

"The fact that chlorination of water lessens the incidence of typhoid fever and allied disorders is not debatable."

ALDERMEN SUED "Also, it is well to remember that several years ago the city fathers of one Canadian city discontinued chlorination, and an epidemic of typhoid followed with five deaths."

"As a result, the mayor and council were individually and successfully sued by the bereaved relatives."

Opposition to the mayor's intentions came, as well, from a senior official of the water board who said: "Chlorination of the water might be considered unnecessary 364 days out of the year, but what about that one remaining day?"

It was impossible to know when typhoid and gastro enteritis germs might show up in the water supply, he said.

Some contamination of the water here was revealed in 20 to 30 per cent of regular tests made at Royal Jubilee Hospital, he said.

He pointed out that the watershed is crossed by one public road, the old Victoria-Nanaimo highway, and by the CNR tracks which brings freight traffic and maintenance crews into the area.

"Our watershed is more liable to trespass and subsequent contamination than most watersheds," he warned.

Hearing Set On Rape Charge

Soldier Gerard Joseph Green, of Ontario, was remanded to Dec. 1 for preliminary hearing on a rape charge when he appeared in city police court today.

The 21-year-old soldier is accused of raping a 17-year-old city girl on Sept. 11.

Third Brother In Family Dies In Three Months

George Franklin McCall, 77, native of Morris Township, Ont., and resident of Victoria for 15 years, died early today at his home, 1319 Minto.

He was the third and last of three brothers living in Victoria to die in the last three months.

His twin, James Milton McCall, died Sept. 27, and David Moore McCall passed away Oct. 18.

Surviving are his widow, Bessie, at home, a daughter, Mrs. Joe Venturini, Victoria; two brothers, Arthur in Walton, Ont., and Harold, Hamilton, Ont.; and nieces and nephews.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at McCall Bros. chapel, and interment will take place at Royal Oak.

Waiter Wins Dismissal In Age Dispute

Beer parlor waiter Walter Cool today won dismissal in city police court on a charge of serving liquor to a minor when Magistrate Henry C. Hall ruled that the minor involved was not "apparently" under 21 years of age.

Cool was charged following a police check of the King's Hotel beer parlor the night of Sept. 23.

In dismissing the charge Magistrate Hall termed it "one of the most extraordinary cases" and commented that "I can't say but what he could pass in an ordinary way."

OVER SIX FEET He noted that the minor, Keith Ross McKay, 17 Dock, was over 16 years old, but that he was over six feet tall and weighed 210 pounds.

He said it was very difficult to believe McKay is only 16.

McKay previously testified that he works as a laborer and has been served beer in several other beer parlors and bought hard liquor at government liquor stores, without being challenged regarding his age.

A charge of allowing a person apparently under 21 years of age in a licensed premises against manager Thomas Higgins was withdrawn by the prosecution.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—What exactly constitutes a millionaire (1) in Great Britain, (2) in the U.S. and Canada? Does it concern income or capital?—H. R. S.

A.—Millionaire is defined as a person possessing of 'a million of money'; as a million pounds, dollars, francs, etc.; a person of great wealth. Thus a person owning a thousand thousands of dollars in cash or the equivalent, bonds, real property, in Canada or the U.S. is generally referred to as a millionaire. In the United Kingdom and other sections of the Commonwealth it is pounds sterling, which would require a millionaire to have roughly the equivalent of three million dollars. The term refers to capital. Only two or three of the world's richest men have a yearly income measured in millions.

4-H Clubs Aid Young People In Business of Modern Living

TORONTO (CP)—One of the main accomplishments of 4-H club work is to give life a purpose, says Miss Echo Lidster, supervisor of 4-H clubs for the

MISS LIDSTER

British Columbia agriculture department.

A speaker during National 4-H Club Week in connection with the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair here, Miss Lidster said the movement has value beyond the cattle show ring, the judging arena, sewing room, kitchen or meeting hall. The 4-H slogan stands for head, heart, hands and health.

"It aids the development of the individual, it equips boys and girls with certain tools necessary to the complex business of living," she said. High school teachers in a British Columbia district recently told Miss Lidster that pupils were easier to work with since the district had started 4-H clubs.

Boys and girls who had club experience were more co-operative, more willing to participate in activities both in and out of the classroom and were able to plan with and for others, the teachers said.

"We humans are on earth as stewards for our way of life and for our earth," Miss Lidster said. "And 4-H club work can bring the present generation of Canadians a vision of stewardship that will help solve these problems."

Gifts to Bride-Elect

Bright pictures of kitchen items covered a large box which held many kitchen gifts for bride-elect, Miss Trellis Frame, at a shower held in her honor by Miss Gladwyn Hodge, 300 View Royal Avenue. Pink roses en corsage were presented to Miss Frame, while her mother, Mrs. G. W. Beck, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. D. E. Doble, received gardenias. Maroon candles in wrought iron holders flickered, prettily lighting the refreshment table. Guests present were Mrs. G. A. Beck, Mrs. R. G. McFarlane, Mrs. R. Colquhoun, Mrs. W. Wales, Mrs. M. L. Doble, Mrs. R. Wright, Mrs. T. Millburn, Mrs. A. Bartlett, Mrs. T. W. Simpson, Misses Janice Frame and Elizabeth Curran.

No-Host Party

Members of the Comitas Club, with husbands and friends, attended a no-host party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Newby recently, where games and dancing were enjoyed and hot dogs and pumpkin pie served. Mrs. R. Heywood was convener, assisted by Mrs. H. P. Johns, Mrs. C. G. Jordan, Mrs. R. C. Newby and Miss Joyce Applegate.

Measuring Pupils

TORONTO (CP)—Grouping children by grades in primary schools is called "fallacious and harmful" by Prof. N. V. Scarfe, dean of education at the University of Manitoba. He told a curriculum conference here that children should be grouped according to intellectual ability, on the basis of intelligence and achievement tests and teachers' assessments.

Three Sister Groups, Pioneer Families Represented At Government House Ball Following Second World War

On July 16, 1946, the year following the end of the Second World War, gaiety and excitement reigned in this city as 63 debutantes from Victoria and Vancouver prepared to make their formal bows to society.

The stately old-world dignity of Government House again lent itself to the modern setting of the occasion as His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and his wife (now Hon. W. C. Woodward and Mrs. Woodward), entertained that evening at a State Ball in honor of Their Excellencies, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor-General of Canada, and Lady Alexander. The ball also presented the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Woodward's younger daughter, Miss Mary Twigg Woodward to capital city society. She led the debutante march into the beautiful ballroom, which was decorated then in blue and gold.

Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Woodward received their 500 guests in the state drawing room, decorated with great masses of late summer flowers.

Promptly at 10:20 p.m., Viscount and Lady Alexander entered the ballroom and were escorted to chairs of state placed on a red carpet at one side of the floor. The debutantes, led by Miss Woodward, entered from the drawing room as their names were called, made their curtsies to Viscount and Lady Alexander and passed quickly on to form a semi-circle at the end of the ballroom.

Lady Alexander was gowned in white with golden sequins started on the bodice of the dress and the very short sleeves. Diamonds twinkled in the tiara in her dark hair and in the bracelet on her wrist. Her corsage was red carnations. Miss Bridget Vesey, her lady-in-waiting, wore a dance frock in a floral design of scarlet on a white background.

Mrs. Woodward chose brilliant silver lame embellished with an all-over tulip design in softest rose, styled with low decollete and skirt gathered into a slight bustle that extended into a train.

Colored lights interspersed with glowing lanterns, outlined the main doorway to Government House and marked the pathway to a garden where marquees had been set up for "sitting out" dances. Supper was served from long tables in the state dining room and under the marquees at 12:30 a.m. An orchestra led by William Tickle played music for the dancing.

Charming Young Women Curtsied That Night

The Victoria debutantes included three sets of sisters, the Misses Pamela and Ann Merston, the Misses Mary and Ann Robertson, and the Misses Joan and Gwynneth Griffith. Others were Miss Heather Prentice, Miss Rosemary Bridgman, Miss Betty Maitland Young, Miss Ann Tatlow, Miss Joan Hutchison, Miss Helen Bell-Irving, Miss Doria de Mellin, Miss Vervan Yarrow, Miss Betty Jones, Miss Kay Burt-Smith, Miss Joan Edgar, Miss Marjorie Wride, Miss Pat Henderson, Miss Sage Ley, Miss Gene MacMinn, Miss Peggy Godfrey, Miss Barbara Bate, Miss Betty McMillan, Miss Helen Robinson, Miss Elizabeth Cowley, Miss Nancy Grant and Miss Janet Denniston.

Several of the attractive young women represented pioneer families of Victoria, including Miss Jane Macintosh, a granddaughter of the late Sir Richard McBride and Lady McBride; Miss Pamela Fraser and her cousin, Miss Hilary Castle, granddaughters of the late Dr. R. L. Fraser, early medical doctor; Miss Elspeth Ker, granddaughter of Mr. David Ker, owner of the first flour mill here; Miss Judy Humphreys, granddaughter of Sir James and Lady Dunsmuir, and Miss Joan Gonnason, granddaughter of Mr. A. B. Gonnason, owner of one of the first sawmills in Victoria, and Mrs. Gonnason.

Miss Sylvia Crofton came from Ganges on Salt Spring Island to be presented, and among the Vancouver debutantes were the Misses Mignon Barclay-Ross, Diana Chesterton, Polly Lane, Joan Nairn, Shirley Wallace, Jean Palfrey, Jane Seymour, Sue Baker, Mary Joy Stoess, Patsy Turner, Barbara Effinger, Rosemary Jukes, Patricia Taylor, Marie Foley and Ann Hadfield. In a letter received yesterday from Miss Gonnason, now Mrs.

John Goddard (living in Albany, Calif., with her husband and small daughter), she writes:

"The debutantes of 1946 were especially fortunate, for their ball was a special affair at Government House, and they had the slippers leaning over the balcony—the three Alexander children and a small friend. What better reminder that even the Alexanders, important persons though they might be, were first and foremost simply a couple with children and probably lots of experience in human feelings.

"Lady Alexander herself confirmed this most warmly when that awesome moment of presentation arrived. For at that instant when a curtsy is most likely to become a flop, I ventured to look up, and found I was meeting a graciously smiling woman with a reassuringly steady hand. The evening was made! Tension vanished and the gaiety and superbly festive ball began.

"The memory of debutantes' bouquets, promenades in the garden, and supper under a brightly lit marquee is still exciting." Memories of others among the 1946 debutantes recall that as it was so soon after the end of the war, it was almost impossible to buy a ready-made debutante gown. "We had to have our gowns made," one debutante recalls, "and even then it was terrific trying to find materials that would make up gracefully."

This same debutante recalls that again, as it was so soon after the end of the war, young escorts, barely out of their teens, did not possess or could not buy full dress attire or even tuxedos. "They came in their fathers' dress suits," she says, "and many of them were safety-pinned into them. We were all so excited though that we didn't even notice. After all, it was the first presentation of debutantes in seven years. What did it matter if a dress suit was a little too big and had to be pinned to fit? It just added to the excitement and fun."

Now Attractive Matrons With Growing Families

Where are these debutantes of 1946 today? Miss Marjorie Wride, now Mrs. Alexander Stewart, living in Victoria with her husband and two daughters, has kept in touch with a good many of the group.

She knows that Miss Burt-Smith, now Mrs. Michael Powell, lives in Toronto. The Powells have one daughter; Mrs. Michael Wetmore, the former Miss Fraser, lives in Montreal with her husband and a pretty little daughter; Miss Betty Jones is Mrs. A. J. M. Poap. Her home is in Toronto.

Attractive Doria de Mellin, one of the first to be married after the ball, is Mrs. James Mills, of Washington, D.C. She has three children.

Living in England are the Misses Gene MacMinn, Heather Prentice and Pam Merston. The first named is Mrs. George MacManus. She has two children; Mrs. G. Hillard (Miss Prentice), has three children. Miss Merston is now Mrs. G. K. Buckley. On her way to England at the moment with her husband, Dr. A. J. M. Johnston, and their small daughter, is the former Miss Ann Merston. The Johnstons plan to spend several years overseas.

Miss Betty Maitland Young is married to Dr. Andrew Gillespie of this city. They have two sons and two daughters. Miss Helen Bell-Irving's husband is Mr. John McIlree. They too, live in Victoria. Miss Elspeth Ker married Mr. James Heimcken. They live in Nanaimo and have one little daughter. Miss Pat Henderson, now Mrs. Douglas Dewar, has two sons. The Dewars live in Vancouver. Mrs. Denham Meek (Miss Hutchison) lives in St. Catharines, Ont.

Also in Vancouver is Miss Peggy Godfrey, now Mrs. Peter Powell. She has one daughter, Miss Janet Denniston lives in Portland; Miss Barbara Bate, in Seattle; Ann Tatlow is married and living in California; Miss Betty McMillan, now Mrs. Hugh Clark, lives in Halifax with her husband and three children. Miss Hilary Castle and Miss Joan Edgar are in Victoria.

Mrs. Keith MacDonald, of this city, is the former Miss Gwynneth Griffith. She has one son. Her sister, Miss Joan Griffith, is living in Victoria. Miss Judy Humphreys is Mrs. H. D. Joy of this city. She has an attractive young daughter.

Miss Jane Macintosh, now Mrs. Boyd, lives in Vancouver. Mrs. Michael Penn, the former Miss Rosemary Bridgman, is in Victoria. She has a small daughter. Miss Vervan Yarrow, now Mrs. Howard Clark lives in Victoria. Her husband is executive officer at Combined Services College and they have one little girl, now a year old.

World Advances Many Since Women Were Given Franchise

OTTAWA (CP)—Dispute what some men may think, the world is a better place because of the political and social advances women have made during the last 30 or 40 years.

That was the reply given Monday by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt to a reporter's question at a press conference.

"It would not be a good thing to have a group, that makes up half the population and is still growing, without any responsibility," she said. Then, a good-humored twinkle in her eyes, she proceeded to enlarge.

Before women were allowed to vote, she said, governments reflected entirely the interests of men. Since women were given the franchise, however, the policies of governments had changed.

They were not entirely in the interests of women now, but the in-

Hill-Tucker Wedding Vows Heard in Oak Bay United

While Mrs. Vera Barclay played traditional wedding music, Miss Marilyn Jean Tucker exchanged vows and rings with Lance-Corporal Floyd Eugene Hill, Queen's Own Rifles, in a ceremony in Oak Bay United Church Saturday evening. Dr. W. W. McPherson officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Tucker, 1034 Oliver Street, and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hill, Fredericton, N.B.

Tall baskets of white chrysanthemums were placed in the church, and small nosegays of white heather marked guest pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a full-length ivory brocaded satin gown styled in classic lines, with lily point sleeves and an illusion net yoke bordered with iridescent sequins. Her fingertip veil misted from a tiara of net and iridescent sequins and she carried a cascade of deep red roses and white carnations.

Matron of honor, Mrs. E. Poirier, wore a strapless, ballerina length gown in pale yellow net, with matching lace bolero and yellow accessories. In her hair was a bandeau of yellow net with clusters of flowers, and she carried a cascade of pink chrysanthemums. Bridesmaid, Miss Camille Cheesman, wore a ballerina length net gown in pale pink with matching lace bolero and pink accessories. Her head bandeau was of pink net with tiny clusters of flowers, and she carried a cascade of pink chrysanthemums. Junior bridesmaid, Miss Diana Tucker, sister of the bride, wore a pale pink nylon dress with bandeau of pink net with clusters of pink chrysanthemums. Flower girl, Carol Tucker, youngest sister of the bride, wore a yellow dotted

Silver Wedding Presentation

A pleasant occasion was celebrated at meeting of the League of Roses (Lancs and Yorks) recently, when the president, L. A. Baker, and Mrs. Baker were presented with a silver tray and casserole from members on the celebration of their silver wedding anniversary. W. E. Dawson made the presentations. This was followed by moving pictures in color supplied by A. Goward, B.C. Electric Railway, showing Mexico, Guatemala and the British Empire Games in Vancouver. Refreshments and dancing were enjoyed.

ask Andy
HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy!

Andy, who is a nice, neat person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prizes, for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 20-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" to Peter Corey, aged 10, of San Francisco, Calif., for his question:

Does a Duck Like Rain Even If He Has Never Seen It?

Peter won a duck at a fair. Naturally he wants to know about ducks so he can make his pet little pet comfortable. So this is the problem. Do ducks go into the water because people bring them up near ponds? Do they like the rain because they learn to like it from other ducks? Or do ducks just enjoy being wet for the fun of it—without being taught?

Ducks seem to enjoy water like you enjoy a merry-go-round. No one has to teach them. They seem to feel that water was put into the world just so that they could enjoy it. They enjoy weedy water, muddy water, still water and rain water—any water so long as it is wet.

Mrs. Duck hatches her babies in a nest on dry land. But she leads them to the water as soon as they can toddle. That's all that is needed. With noisy quacks and giggles, the fluffy little fellows start swimming happily in the water. Before you know it they are doing tricks: Down go the little yellow heads and up come the little yellow tails. The ducklings are diving for dinner—in the mud on the floor of the pond.

Andy is sure that all ducks, big ones and little ones, love the rain. Last spring he happened to be along the Mississippi Basin when the rains came. The great Ohio River filled up and spilled over. The Mississippi slopped over her banks. Andy got very wet and felt very miserable about all the rain, rain, rain.

Then, all of a sudden he heard a noise—a merry quack-quacking noise. There in a muddy, overflowing pond were three ducks having a whale of a time. They flapped their wings and quacked for joy. Andy was pleased that somebody was having such a wonderful time in the rain, even if he wasn't. Yes, ducks definitely have fun in rainy weather.

Don't their lily-white feathers get wet? Not at all. For as you know, water runs right off a duck's back. The rain cannot wet him. The muddest pond does not dirty his glossy feathers.

Watch him preen himself and you will understand why. He nibbles around his tail. For there is where he keeps a supply of oil. The oil is made by special glands. He gets this oil onto his bill. Then he nibbles at each and all of his feathers. They become coated with a thin film of oil. And, since water runs off an oily surface, it runs off a duck.

We do hear of pet ducks who never go near the water. They enjoy life, for ducks are usually cheerful fellows. Maybe Peter plans to keep his duck a dry duck. But don't be surprised if he quacks and yaps to get outdoors when he sees the raindrops patter down the window panes.

Andy sends a copy of The American People's Encyclopedia Yearbook to Wayne Simpson, aged 12, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, for his question:

Is It True That Saturn's Moon Titan Has An Atmosphere?

Golden: Saturn has nine moons outside its shimmering rings. The first to be spotted was Titan, probably because it is the biggest of the brood. It was discovered in 1655. Titan is about 3,000 miles in diameter. Our moon is 2,163 miles in diameter. Two of Jupiter's moons, Ganymede and Callisto, are quite a bit larger than Titan.

Though Titan is not the largest, it has a reason for being the most special moon in our Solar System. In 1943, it was discovered that Titan, six moons from the planet Saturn, had an atmosphere. So far as we know it is the only satellite in the Solar System to have air of its own.

The air on Titan, however, is not like our own. The spectrum shows that its gases are like those on the giant planets. These are not breathable gases for there seems to be no oxygen. There is methane, which we call marsh or natural gas. And there is gaseous ammonia—which is poisonous for us to breathe.

Oklahoma Holds No. 1 Grid Rating

NEW YORK (AP)—Oklahoma remained the No. 1 football team in the United States in the weekly Associated Press poll Monday, but Michigan State finally replaced Maryland in second place in the rankings, by only six points.

The Sooners grabbed 114 first-place votes and stacked up 1,889 points. Oklahoma, unbeaten in nine games, drubbed Nebraska last week 41-0.

A week ago, Maryland held second place by eight points over Michigan State, but the Spartans thumped Marquette 33-0 Saturday while Maryland had a tougher time against George Washington, winning 19-0.

UCLA, which ground out a 17-7 victory over Southern California, moved up from fifth to fourth place with 1,374 points, displacing Notre Dame, which dropped to fifth.

The top four teams will meet in two major New Year's bowl games, Oklahoma vs. Maryland in Miami's Orange Bowl, and UCLA vs. Michigan State in the Pasadena Rose Bowl.

Ohio State moved to sixth and Auburn, which trounced Clemson 21-0 and took over as No. 10 team.

Texas Christian, the South-West Conference's representative in the Cotton Bowl, and Texas A and M, held No. 7 and No. 8, respectively.

Langford Fact-Finding Group Finds Municipality Feasible

LANGFORD—The choice of proceeding with arrangements to form a rural municipality, or to drop the present investigation and remain unorganized territory, will be made Thursday night at Belmont High School by ratepayers of Langford Fire Protection District.

Action was begun three months ago as a means of combatting zoning that was to be forced on Millstream road residents.

A fact-finding committee formed at that time is ready to report, and will be able to tell ratepayers that the scheme is feasible.

"We have published a statement showing that income from the proposed district would meet all expenses and provide services not already enjoyed," a committee member said today.

LARGE AREA

Included in the proposed scheme are Langford, a portion of Langford Lake, Glen Lake, parts of Happy Valley, the old highway past Colwood corner and beyond toward Parsons Bridge.

42 Members Added to Church Roll

MILL BAY—Rev. Howard Turpin and the congregations of Shawanigan Lake and Mill Bay United Churches received the hearty congratulations of the presbytery home missions convenor Sunday when the membership roll of both churches was set up on a permanent basis.

Conducting service for presbytery was Rev. T. G. Griffiths, who brought greetings from the other United churches in the district and commended those who have worked hard in the past three years voluntarily constructing the new church buildings.

Forty-two names were inscribed on the membership roll, including those of Mill Bay pioneers Mrs. Barry and Mrs. Frayne, whose connection with the church goes back to the original Methodist mission in the area, established in 1905.

Death in Fire Said Accident; Mother Warned

DUNCAN (CP)—A verdict of accidental death was returned Monday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of an 18-month-old Indian girl in a fire which destroyed her parents' home on the Koksilah reserve Saturday.

The child, Verna Sally, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daniel George, was left with her two sisters, aged five and six, the parents testified. The fire broke out four hours after they left.

Police told the jury that it was the second time in the last three months that the children had been left alone by their parents.

Mrs. George had been warned in September not to leave her children after neighbors called police, complaining that the children had been deserted.

GANGES—Word has been received here of the death in Shaughnessy Hospital Saturday of Capt. Kenneth George Haley, resident here for 58 years.

Born near Glasgow, he settled here in 1897, and served in two wars. Following the First World War he was named government supervisor of the Merville settlement for war veterans, then went into business in Vancouver until his re-enlistment when war broke out again.

After the war he took a secretarial position at Shaughnessy Hospital, then returned once more to Salt Spring Island.

SOOKE—Charged with careless driving and with driving without a driver's licence, Mrs. B. Mugford, 20, pleaded guilty to both counts when she appeared in police court here before Magistrate F. Thornber.

Island Digest Indian Residential School Opens New Classroom Block

CHEMAINUS—Official opening and blessing of the new classroom block at the Indian Residential School at Kuper Island was held with a large number of guests in attendance.

W. S. Arnel, Indian commissioner for B.C., cut the blue and gold ribbon across the entrance to the building, declaring it officially open. Rev. L. D. Le Clair, school principal, introduced the invited guests to the school staff and students.

Guests at the opening ceremonies included Most Rev. James M. Hill, Bishop of Victoria; A. V. Parmenter, regional inspector of Indian schools for the province; Indian agent J. V. Boys and Mrs. Boys R. M. Martin, Vancouver, chief engineer for the Indian affairs department.

Congratulations and good wishes were received from Laval Fortier, deputy minister of citizenship and immigration, and Major R. F. Davey, superintendent of Indian education for Canada.

Prayers of blessing were read aloud by Bishop Hill, who also blessed the new school flag.

The new classroom block accommodates three of the five classrooms now in operation at the Kuper Island school. A one-story structure, it is self-contained with staff rooms, store-rooms, boiler rooms and a covered patio.

Sitting at their desks, the pupils view a panorama of water, islands, and Chemainus at the foot of snow-capped Mt. Brenton.

Brentwood Board Claims Water Source
BRENTWOOD—A claim for 300,000 gallons of water per day has been posted near Mount Newton High School by Brentwood Water Board.

Victor Dawson, chairman of the water district, explained to trustees of School District 63 Monday night that the claim will not affect the licence of the school to take 1,000 gallons daily from the same source.

The new site is "insurance" for the district, he said, since there is no guarantee that it will be developed.

At present the district draws from Elk lake through a department of transport pumping station, but the service is due to end in March.

Work began today in strike-bound Vancouver Island and mainland mills with the signing of a contract late Monday by the International Union of Operating Engineers.

The 150 steam engineers, who idled 16 mills in their demand for a 10 per cent pay increase, settled on terms offered by a conciliation board in August of five cents per hour retroactive to June 15, and another five cents next June 15.

Love-Mad Suitor Kills Girl in Crowded Plane

SEATTLE (AP) — A pretty United Air Line stewardess, greeting passengers coming aboard a Los Angeles-bound flight, was shot to death by her former boyfriend at the crowded Seattle-Tacoma airport Monday night.

The rejected suitor, Robert Clendenin, 26, then fired bullets into his own neck and head, killing himself.

Sally Shedd, a 25-year-old blue-eyed brunette, was struck twice in the chest after Clendenin knocked her sprawling into a seat.

Clendenin, a trainee with a New York brokerage firm, had entered the plane and taken a seat before he turned with rage on his former sweetheart.

SOUNDED LIKE CAP PISTOL
Mrs. Herman Rosch of Portland, Ore., who occupied the seat next to Clendenin and watched him take a gun from his briefcase, said:

"I thought it was a cap pistol. Even after it went off I thought it was a cap pistol. It just kept on going off. Bang. Bang. Bang." Clendenin, who met Miss Shedd several years ago in New York, was one of the last of some 40 passengers to file up the ramp of the DC-6B.

He nodded and spoke to his former girl friend before taking his seat next to Mrs. Loesch at the front of the plane.

Withdrawing the pistol from his briefcase, Clendenin rushed down the aisle and confronted Miss Shedd. He pushed her into a seat on top of an air force lieutenant and fired four shots.

STARED IN DISBELIEF
The passengers stared in disbelief at the scene unfolding before them.

The air force lieutenant, Norman Stout of Portland, Ore., leaped from his seat and grabbed Clendenin. A fifth shot, which plunged harmlessly into the plane's seat was fired as they grappled.

Stout finally tumbled Clendenin through the door of the plane and down the ramp to the concrete field.

Clendenin ran about 25 yards and fired the one remaining bullet in the gun into his neck. Blood streamed from the wound, but he remained standing. He reloaded, ran another few yards and fired a bullet into his head. He died three hours later in hospital.

Miram K. Garland, the dead girl's roommate and the second stewardess aboard the plane, told police of Miss Shedd's tempestuous romance with Clendenin.

She told how they met in New York late September, of Miss Shedd's subsequent attempts to break off the romance, and the slain stewardess' fear of Clendenin.

Miss Garland said that last Monday the victim met Clendenin in Chicago and told him they definitely were through.

The next day, Miss Garland continued, Clendenin showed Miss Shedd the same .38 calibre revolver with which he was to kill her six days later.

Police found two unfinished love letters in Clendenin's briefcase, tucked in a book which had nestled against the revolver which claimed the pretty stewardess' life.

Christ Spoke To Pope Pius, Italy Paper Says

VATICAN CITY (AP) — An Italian newspaper said today the vision of Christ, which is reported by Vatican sources to have appeared before ailing Pope Pius XII, spoke to the Pontiff.

Corriere Della Sera of Milan printed the first account to attribute words to the vision.

It reported the vision clearly and distinctly said: "The Master is present and calls you."

The newspaper said the Pope was reciting a prayer during his illness last December and came to the line: "In the hour of my death, call me."

GOLDEN STAPH HITS DUNCAN

DUNCAN—There are four cases of staphylococcus infection at King's Daughters Hospital here, it was reported Monday by the hospital administrator.

Every possible precaution is being taken to prevent the spread of the infection, including strict isolation of patients, he said.

With ballet people interpreting music via the dance, and critics interpreting the interpreters, we thought it might be a good idea to go directly to the font.

What, we said, pirouetting into a chair, is ballet? Answered Miss Farally, interpretively: "It's a combination of music, decor and dancing, making a complete whole."

LEAST LIKELY

Of all the cities in which to have a Royal Ballet, Winnipeg, with its wind-swept streets, slaughter houses and mud, would seem the least likely, don't you think, Miss Farally?

"On the contrary, Winnipeg is a good place to train a ballet because there's nothing else to do," she affirmed.

Where, Miss Farally, do old ballet dancers go when they retire?

"They usually end up as teachers—or marry successfully."

Like football players, ballet dancers have shot their last kick about the age of 35.

Now which of the Canadian cities is the most appreciative of ballet?

"Edmonton is a very ballet minded town. They have a society there called 'Friends of the Ballet.' Toronto and Montreal have also been good."

And which is the worst city in appreciation?

"You are not going to catch me on that one, young man. Those last two words made us glow."

There's no room in Canada for additional professional companies. There are two now, the Winnipeg group and counterparts in Toronto. This is because Canada "hasn't enough big towns that can afford to bring in large companies."

It costs about $25,000 yearly to run the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, without production costs.

Miss Farally has been with the troupe since its inception 16 years ago.

After performances tonight and Wednesday in the Royal Theatre, the ballet goes to Port Alberni for a performance Thursday, then to Seattle where they will greet the audience Saturday night.

Reds Execute 6 Beria Aides In New Purge

Plotted Against Kremlin Regime

LONDON (UP) — Soviet Russia disclosed today that six followers of the late Lavrenti P. Beria have been shot in the biggest known blood purge of the supposedly tranquil Bulganin-Khrushchev regime.

Tiflis radio announced that six former police officials in Beria's home state of Georgia were executed for carrying out plots by the executed secret police head, covering up his misdeeds and framing his enemies.

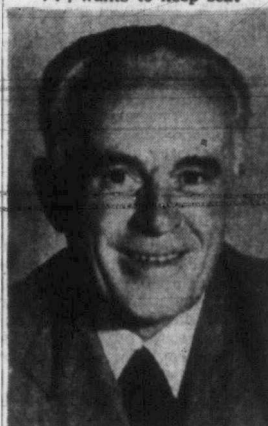

In addition two others were sentenced to prison terms of 25 years.

It was the biggest purge since Beria himself was fired as Soviet secret police chief early in the reign of Georgi Malenkov and shot in December of 1953 for allegedly plotting against Malenkov's government and the Soviet Communist system.

Last December four Beria accomplices were shot in a follow-up purge sweeping Georgia—hotbed of Beria men and home of both Beria and the late Josef Stalin.

CAPT. D. J. PROUDFOOT
... 11th council candidate

7 New Candidates Promise Record Area Voting Slates

The keenest interest in years in the municipal election contests in the Greater Victoria area was assured today as seven new candidates were announced, indicating sharp competition for most offices.

New developments were:

1. In the city, Alderman W. Pinfold announced he will stand for re-election and Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, former MLA for Victoria, said he will stand for council. This raised to 11 the number seeking council seats, the largest in years.
2. In Esquimalt, Magistrate A. I. Thomas, reeve from 1947 to 1951, announced he will contest the office against the incumbent, Reeve A. C. Wurtele, in the rapidly developing municipality.
3. In Saanich fresh demands were made for investigation into handling of municipal gravel and into the handling of the district's big sewerage project. Victoria City has already been assured of a spirited contest for the mayoralty, with former Alderman Percy Scurrell and W. A. Scott listed as opposing Mayor Harrison.

3-Way Contest in Saanich

In Saanich, former MLA Arthur Ash and George Clayton are opposing Reeve Joseph Casey.

In Oak Bay, no new candidates have come forward but all incumbents whose terms of office expires this year, with exception of Mr. Fred Hawes, have announced they will seek return to office.

This includes Reeve F. E. Norris, Mr. George Murdoch, who seeks both to council and police commission; Mr. J. V. Johnson, aiming at his 23rd and 24th years on council, and school trustee, W. C. Gelling.

Mr. Gelling's candidacy rounds out the slate for district school board... each of the present members who is ending a term has now announced he will run again. These are trustees Kenneth Leeming and Harold Whitfield, city representatives, and Saanich representative and board chairman, Walter P. Jeune. They have on opposition so far.

Thomas Opposes Wurtele

Magistrate A. I. Thomas, 61, presiding judge at Colwood RCMP court, and former Esquimalt reeve from 1947 to 1951, born at Nanaimo, is in the real estate and insurance business in Esquimalt and has been a justice of the peace since 1937 and a magistrate for over 12 years.

Reeve Fred E. Norris, so far unopposed in his candidacy, is seeking a second term as reeve of Oak Bay. He served five years on council previously. He said he wishes to continue in office until re-planting of Beach Drive is complete and the new Hudson's Bay land development and subdivision north of Lansdowne Road is complete. He also wants to share in planning for Oak Bay's 50th anniversary celebrations in 1956. He is former president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

School trustee W. S. Gelling is completing his first two years on the school board. He was born in England 48 years ago and came to Victoria in 1910. He is employed as chief accountant at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

2-Mile Traffic Snarl as Snow Hits Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Heavy snow today caused one of the worst traffic tie-ups in Winnipeg's history.

Streets became sheets of ice as nearly three inches of wet snow fell over the city in the wake of a snow storm that swept across southeastern Saskatchewan and south Manitoba overnight. It was the seventh heavy fall of the early winter.

A semi-trailer truck attempting to negotiate the main street subway slidded and blocked two traffic lanes. It left only one southbound lane open—and that one was extremely slippery.

Traffic was backed up for nearly two miles as motorists and buses from north Winnipeg were stranded. Buses were more than an hour behind schedule.

Many of the city's cinder trucks themselves became stranded.

Fire Ruins Club

NORTH VANCOUVER (BUP)—A building housing the Diamond Horseshoe Supper Club was almost totally destroyed today in a fire which followed an explosion. A power shovel being operated nearby apparently ripped up a gas main.

Grey Cup Promised Fine Day

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The Dominion Public Weather Office today issued a reassuring forecast for Grey Cup day, Saturday, predicting "little or no precipitation."

In a special forecast, the weather bureau said "the outlook indicates that it will be cloudy at Vancouver with little or no precipitation, light winds and afternoon temperatures in the high 30s or low 40s."

The weather office issued the reassurance after snow fell on the city today, raising fears that bad weather conditions might again interfere with Canada's annual football classic.

The snow started falling early today as Grey Cup frenzy built in Vancouver in preparation for Saturday's game between the Edmonton Eskimos and the Montreal Alouettes.

The weather office said a storm moving in from the Pacific had brought snow and rain and that the province would return to colder weather by Thursday.

Up to an inch of snow fell on the higher levels of Vancouver this morning. However, the turf at Empire Stadium—where the game will be played—was unaffected as it is covered by tons of hay and a tarpaulin.

Even if Vancouver provides a bit of snow Saturday, the Grey Cup teams won't be too worried. Edmonton Eskimos coach

Frank "Pop" Ivy smiled when he heard this morning that snow was falling in the higher levels around Vancouver.

"Hmmp, we've seen a bit of snow this year and Ah reckon Montreal has, too. Can't say Ah'm too worried," he said.

This morning's Eskimo workout at Athletic Park appeared aimed at beating Montreal Alouettes with their own favorite weapon—the long pass. Eskimos drilled for an hour on pass-patterns with quarterback Jackie Parker, supposedly a weak passer, hitting his receiver with deadly accuracy up to 40 yards.

Onlookers also saw Bob Dean and Parker practicing placekicks. Dean, who toed in six in a row from 30 yards out this morning, kicked the vital conversion that gave Edmonton their one-point margin of victory over Montreal in last year's Grey Cup game.

Lower Bids Submitted
For Clearing of Lake

Millions of dollars were knocked off original bids today when tenders were opened by the B.C. Power Commission for clearing and grubbing around Upper Campbell Lake, site of the controversial proposed B.C. dam.

Today's bids were the second called for by the commission. When bids were opened Sept. 27 only one firm, Campbell-Bennett and Mannix Ltd., asked $9,534,795 for the job. This bid was rejected.

Today nine firms, including firms from Wisconsin and Seattle, submitted bids.

Dawson Wade, at $7,284,782, and Campbell Bennett Ltd., Mannix Ltd., and Wixson and Crowe at $6,510,776, submitted bids on the entire 11 contract areas involved.

The other bidders submitted tenders on only a portion of the overall contract area.

Bids will be presented B.C.P.C. engineers for study.

One reason bids were lower than at the original calling for tenders is that the time required for completion of the job was extended 13 months to Dec. 31, 1957.

Bids varied as much as $500,000.

Reds Execute
6 Beria Aides
In New Purge

Plotted Against
Kremlin Regime

LONDON (UP) — Soviet Russia disclosed today that six followers of the late Lavrenti P. Beria have been shot in the biggest known blood purge of the supposedly tranquil Bulganin-Khrushchev regime.

Tiflis radio announced that six former police officials in Beria's home state of Georgia were executed for carrying out plots by the executed secret police head, covering up his misdeeds and framing his enemies.

In addition two, others were sentenced to prison terms of 25 years.

It was the biggest purge since Beria himself was fired as Soviet secret police chief early in the reign of Georgi Malenkov and shot in December of 1953 for allegedly plotting against Malenkov's government and the Soviet Com...unist system.

Last December four Beria accomplices were shot in a follow-up purge sweeping Georgia—hotbed of Beria men and home

Intense Campaigns
Seen for Voting
In Civic Area

The keenest interest in years in the municipal election contests in the Greater Victoria area was assured today as seven new candidates were announced, indicating sharp competition for most offices.

New developments were:

1. In the city, Alderman W. F. Pinfold announced he will stand for re-election and Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, former MLA for Victoria, said he will stand for council. This raised to 11 the number seeking council seats, the largest in years.

2. In Esquimalt, Magistrate A. I. Thomas, reeve from 1947 to 1951, announced he will contest the office against the incumbent, Reeve A. C. Wurtele, in the rapidly developing municipality.

3. In Saanich fresh demands were made for investigation into handling of municipal gravel and into the handling of the district's big sewerage project.

Victoria City has already been assured of a spirited contest for the mayoralty, with former Alderman Percy Scutcheon and W. A. Scott listed as opposing Mayor Harrison.

3-Way Contest in Saanich

In Saanich, former MLA Arthur Ash and George Clayton are opposing Reeve Joseph Casey.

In Oak Bay, no new candidates have come forward but all incumbents whose terms of office expires this year, with exception of Clr. Fred Hawes, have announced they will seek return to office.

This includes Reeve F. E. Norris, Clr. George Murdoch, who aspires both to council and police commission; Clr. J. V. Johnson, aiming at his 23rd and 24th years on council, and school trustee, W. C. Gelling.

Mr. Gelling's candidacy rounds out the slate for district school board... each of the present members who is ending a term has now announced he will run again. These are trustees Kenneth Leeming and Harold Whitfield, city representatives, and Saanich representative and board chairman, Walter P. Jeune. They have no opposition so far.

Here are the latest candidates:

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, noted ex-soldier, former schoolmaster and at present student-at-law, is a member of Victoria library board, former MLA, 1949-1953, prominent Liberal, wartime chief warden for Victoria civil defence, Jubilee Hospital Board member, born in Scotland in 1897. He stands on a platform of promotion of early construction of a new Point Ellice bridge, transfer of Goldstream Park to the provincial government for development, removal of sewage and completion of the Gorge reclamation plan and institution in this area of an A class agricultural fair and race track combined.

Esquimalt Ex-Reeve in Field

Magistrate A. I. Thomas, 61, presiding judge at Colwood RCMP court, and former Esquimalt reeve from 1947 to 1951, born at Nanaimo, is in the real estate and insurance business in Esquimalt and has been a justice of the peace since 1937 and a magistrate for over 12 years.

Reeve Fred A. Norris, so far unopposed in his candidacy, is seeking a second term as reeve of Oak Bay. He served for years on council previously. He said he wishes to continue in office until re-planning of Beach Drive is complete and the new Hudson's Bay land development and a subdivision north of Lansdowne Road is complete. He also wants to share in planning for Oak Bay's 50th anniversary celebrations in 1956. He is former president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

School trustee W. S. Gelling is completing his first two years on the school board. He was born in England 48 years ago and came to Victoria in 1910. He is employed as chief accountant at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Grey Cup Promised Fine Day

In a special forecast, the weather bureau said "the outlook indicates that it will be cloudy at Vancouver with little or no precipitation, light winds and afternoon temperatures in the high 30s or low 40s."

The weather office issued the reassurance after snow fell on the city today, raising fears that bad weather conditions might again interfere with Canada's annual football classic.

Even if Vancouver provides a bit of snow Saturday, the Grey Cup teams won't be too worried. Edmonton Eskimos coach Frank "Pop" Ivy smiled when he heard this morning that snow was falling in the higher levels around Vancouver.

"Hmhm, we've seen a bit of snow this year and Ah reckon Montreal has, too. Can't say Ah'm too worried," he said.

This morning's Eskimo workout at Athletic Park appeared aimed at beating Montreal Alouettes with their own favorite weapon—the long pass. Eskimos drilled for an hour on pass-patterns with quarterback Jackie Parker, supposedly a weak passer, hitting his receiver with deadly accuracy up to 40 yards.

Onlookers also saw Bob Dean and Parker practicing placekicks. Dean, who toed in six in a row from 30 yards out this morning, kicked the vital conversion that gave Edmonton their one-point margin of victory over Montreal in last year's Grey Cup game.
